"FATHER" SCHMIDT MURET'S COUSIN

Detectives Tracing Careers of Both, in Europe and America.

CONNECTION BETWEEN TWO

Pseudo Dentist Central Figure in Unravelling of New York Mystery —Inquiry Into Sanity— Counterfeiting.

New York, Sept. 18.—While steps were being taken today to have a jury pass on the sanity of "Father" Hans Schmidt, bit upon bit of evidence was piling up, linking closer and closer the lives of the slayer of Anna Aumuller and his alleged counterfeiting partner, Dr. Ernest Muret.

Muret was the central figure in the day's developments in the case. The priest, whose very right to the name he claims and to the cloth he wore, is being called in question, grew morose in his cell and talked little. Muret appeared in court to plead guilty and be held on the charge of having a dangerous weapon in his possession. But this charge was more of a formality than anything else, serving merely to hold him in the hands of the State authorities while the mysterious twists and turns of his life are being followed up and his association with the Aumuller girl's murder is traced to its beginning.

Muret Schmidt's Cousin.

The pseudo dentist, who appears from information the authorities already have gained, to have practiced medicine under other names in Chicago, in England on the continent, has been thought by the police almost from the beginning to bear some blood relationship to Schmidt. Thus the advices tonight from Ashaffenburg, Germany, Schmidt's birthplace, that Muret is now believed to be the murderer's cousin, Adolph Muller, caused little surprise among the investigators.

This development brings with it the statement that the cousins were close friends, and that Muller long ago disappeared, perhaps was the most important of any along the line of inquiry which seeks to establish a connection of long standing of the two men. It came out also, however, through the discovery of an engraver who made copper plates for Schmidt that Muret, as he now calls himself, seemingly had far more knowledge than he has at any time admitted of Schmidt's counterfeiting operations, having accompanied Schmidt to the engraver's shop when the plates were secured.

"Schmidt" May be Alias.

As for Schmidt himself, the many aliases he used led Inspector Faurot, in charge of the case, to suspect that the clerical prisoner might not be the Hans Schmidt of Ashaffenburg, but an impostor. This theory while somewhat at cross purposes with that which has brought out the supposed blood relationship between the real Hans Schmidt and Muret, was considered by the inspector worth following up.

"There is no certainty that this fellow is the real Schmidt," said the inspector. "Schmidt is a natural forger and could easily have fixed up the clerical credentials through which he obtained positions in St. Boniface church and St. Joseph's church.

Schmidt, when this matter of identity was pressed on him today, by his counsel, Alphonse Koeble, insisted, the latter said, that he was not an impostor.

Inquest Into Sanity.

"He told me he was Hans Schmidt, the priest," said the lawyer.

Mr. Koeble began today laying the ground work for an insanity defense of his client. He let District Attorney Whitman know that he proposed asking a court to inquire into Schmidt's sanity.

Another line of defense, however, seems likely to be resorted to in a secondary way. This is an asserted absence of absolute proof of Anna Aumuller's death. Parts of the girl's body, cut up by Schmidt and thrown into the Hudson, have been recovered, but the head, which would afford proof positive of identity, still is missing. It is this contingency which is leading the police to keep up a persistent search for the head of the victim. A diver has been engaged to go over every foot of the river bottom in the vicinity where yesterday fishermen dragged some object close to the surface and then lost it, only a strand of human hair remaining on the hook.

Along Counterfeitng Lines.

Denver, Col., Sept. 18.—U. S. secret service agents today sent telegrams to the New York police asking whether Hans Schmidt was absent from New York in June. This action followed the discovery that the counterfeit $10 and $20 notes made by Schmidt are strikingly similar to spurious bills passed in Denver, Chicago and Kansas City.

From Germany.

Ashaffenberg, Germany, Sept. 18.—It is now believed that the alleged dentist, Muret, is Schmidt's cousin, his real name being Adolph Mueller. He and Schmidt were close friends. Mueller, who was a merchant, lived at Mainz. He went to Hamburg and later disappeared.

No Trace of Helen Green.

Chicago, Sept. 18.—Detectives today were unable to find any trace of the woman known as Helen Green, who the New York police believe was a companion of Hans Schmidt, confessed slayer of Anna Aumuller, and who is reported to have left New York for Chicago a month ago.

DIAZ IS RECALLED TO HIS COUNTRY

Former President May be the Huerta Candidate in the Coming Election.

MEXICAN GENERAL CONDITIONS

Turbulent Republic Still Center of Interest—Attitude of United States Discussed at Washington. Bandits at Work.

Mexico City, Sept. 18.—Instructions have been sent by President Huerta to Gen. Felix Diaz, who now is in Europe, to return immediately to Mexico. It is expected that he will sail within a few days.

This fact is regarded here as indicating that Gen. Huerta intends to abide by the pact signed at the American embassy last February to place no obstacle in the path of Gen. Diaz in his candidacy for the presidency.

It is considered possible that Gen. Huerta will throw his influence to Diaz, which would practically insure his election.

The partisans of Diaz have not ceased to labor in his behalf and assert that they have organized upwards of 3,000 "clubs" throughout the republic. Up to the present Gen. Diaz is the only candidate in the field.

The Catholic party, which is the only big organization likely to put forward a candidate in opposition, held a convention several weeks ago and adjourned without naming a candidate. The leaders of that party have called another convention for next Sunday. It is no secret that they favor Huerta and in the previous convention they decided to support the President should he again become a candidate. Gen. Huerta, however, has given no indication of such intention.

Much comment has been caused by the selection by President Huerta of Eduardo Tamariz, one of the most prominent among the younger leaders of the Catholic party, for the portfolio of public instruction in his cabinet, vacated by Jose Maria Lozano, who has been transferred to the department of communications and public works.

It is learned that the bankers who recently agreed to finance the administration to the extent of 12,000,000 to 15,000,000 pesos have declined to offer any hope of assistance dating beyond the coming elections.

Gen. Trevino, who was selected by Gen. Huerta to head the military court, has declined the post, giving as his reason ill health and his advanced age.

Situation at Washington.

Washington, Sept. 18.—President Wilson let it be known today that he takes the view that there was nothing in Gen. Huerta's message to the Mexican Congress last Monday in any way inconsistent with the interpretation adopted by the United States of the last note transmitted by Frederico Gamboa, Mexican Minister of Foreign Affairs, to John Lind, the American envoy.

The administration considers that Huerta, having been declared in the Gamboa note ineligible to succeed himself as provisional president, will not be a candidate in the approaching elections and the American government is prepared at any time to resume the negotiations through Mr. Lind on this basis.

No announcement was forthcoming today as to the policy to be pursued with respect to the presence of American warships in Mexican waters, but the official view here is that there will be no friction on the point when the authorization of their stay off the Mexican coast expires next month. Official reports of the killing of the American, W. O. Robertson and Morris P. Root, were received at the State Department today. A dispatch from Guadalajara said Root was killed by a Mexican miner during a quarrel on September 2nd. No details of Mr. Robertson's death at the hands of reb-

IMPEACHMENT COURT CONVENES AT ALBANY

Governor Sulzer Not Present, But "Entered Special Appearance"—Only Preliminaries Observed on Opening Day. An Occasion of Much Solemnity—Executive Spends the Day Quietly.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 18.—William Sulzer, Governor of New York, charged by the Assembly with high crimes and misdemeanors, failed to appear in person today before the high court of impeachment when it convened to begin the trial which will determine his guilt or innocence. Instead, his attorneys "entered a special appearance" in the Governor's behalf and challenged the organization of the court, and its jurisdiction over the accused.

The objections of counsel were swept aside temporarily by Chief Judge Edgar M. Cullen, of the Court of Appeals, presiding, and the impeachment tribunal proceeded to organize.

The court convened at noon and adjourned an hour later until tomorrow to permit a committee of three to prepare and report rules of procedure. No objection was interposed to a ruling of Judge Cullen that the three designated judges of the court of appeals—Judges Miller, Chase and Hiscock—be permitted to sit with the elective judges as members of the high court.

The first challenge came when Senator James J. Frawley was called upon to take the oath. Admitting the right to challenge, Judge Cullen ruled that members of the court must be sworn before any proceedings were taken and Senator Frawley took the oath.

Judge Herrick announced that Senators Ramsperger and Sanner, members of the Frawley committee, and Majority Leader Wagner would be challenged at the proper time.

Senator Wagner, Senator Elon R. Brown, the Republican leader, and Judge Willard Bartlett, of the Court of Appeals, the committee appointed to draft the rules of procedure, had practically completed their work tonight.

Apart from the adoption of these rules interest in tomorrow's proceedings was focussed on the expected legal battle over the right of the challenged Senators to sit as members of the court.

The Governor's attorney presumed to explain why they purposed to challenge Senator Wagner.

The impeachment court as constituted today numbered 57, of whom 48 are Senators and nine judges of the Court of Appeals. A two-thirds majority of the court is required by the constitution to convict.

Scores of witnesses are under subpoena to testify. Whether Governor Sulzer would be put on the stand in his own defense and whether his wife, who is represented to be able to explain many of the Governor's questioned stock transactions in Wall Street, will be called as a witness, were secrets which the Governor's counsel tonight refused to divulge.

Louis Sarecky, secretary to Mr. Sulzer during the gubernatorial campaign, wanted as one of the star witnesses for the prosecution, is missing.

The ranks of counsel for Governor Sulzer were increased today with the appearance of Elihu Root, Jr. As filed with the court, the Governor's attorneys of record are, in addition to Mr. Root, D. Caddy Herrick, Irving G. Vann, Harvey D. Hinman, Austen G. Fox and James Gay Gordon.

Counsel for the managers of the Assembly are Alton B. Parker, former judge of the Court of Appeals; John B. Stanchfield, Edgar T. Brackett, Eugene Lamb Richards, Isadore J. Kressell, Hiram C. Todd and Henderson Peck.

The proceedings today were conducted with great solemnity. Each Senator as he took the oath, standing in the center of the semi-circular space between the Senators' desks and the dais, seemed to realize the unusual significance of the occasion. The remarks of counsel were couched in formal terms and each bowed low as he arose to address the court. Spectators in the galleries watched the proceedings in silence. Among them were many women. In the police patrolled corridors outside hundreds of disappointed men and women clamored, threatened and pleaded for an opportunity to catch a glimpse of the history-making tribunal.

The Governor did not come to the Capitol today, but remained at the "People's House", closely in touch with the proceedings going on in the High Court. He rose at 7 o'clock, enjoyed his usual 15 minutes stroll about the executive mansion grounds and breakfasted alone with Mrs. Sulzer. After the morning meal he was closeted alone with Mrs. Sulzer for half an hour when the various possible developments of the day were discussed. Later he participated in a conference with his legal advisers.

During the afternoon, in spite of the urging of his wife, he declined to take his customary automobile ride, a recreation he has enjoyed regularly for the past few days.

Other conferences with counsel followed in the afternoon and evening. By all who saw him, the impeached executive was reported in good health and spirits.

WORK ON TARIFF GOES MERRILY ON

Differences on Wheat and Flour Adjusted in Conference.

NIGHT SESSIONS HAVE BEGUN

Senate Amendment Accepted Almost Without Change Providing for Countervailing Duties—Pomorene on Rampage.

Washington, Sept. 18.—Differences between the Senate and House over the proposed duties on wheat and flour were settled by the Dmocratic members of the tariff conference committee today. The nature of the agreement was not made public but it is understood that the House members finally accepted the Senate amendment almost without change.

Under this provision, both wheat and flour would go on the free list and a duty of ten cents per bushel would be assessed against wheat imported from a country levying a duty on American wheat, and a duty of 45 cents per barrel against flour imported under like conditions. Today's agreement established a precedent, which, it is understood, will be followed in other cases in imposing countervailing duties.

It is expected that the conference will approve a countervailing duty of 10 per cent. on potatoes which both Houses have put on the free list and that the countervailing duty on wood pulp, put in by the House and later stricken out by the Senate, may also be adopted. An agreement was reached on the meat inspection provision, applied to free meat from abroad. The section will be re-written so that the rigid provisions of the American inspection laws will be applied in some of their more important features to imported meats.

The decision of the conferees to drop Senate amendments proposing a tax of $1.10 a gallon on all fruit brandies used to fortify sweet wines was vigorously attacked in the Senate today by Senator Pomorene. He criticised the tariff bill managers more sharply than had any other Democrat since Senator Hitchcock denounced the caucus for the defeat of his "trust" tax amendment. He was joined by Senator Vardaman, of Mississippi. Senator Pomorene declared that only the patent medicine manufacturers, who used the cheapest sweet wines would suffer from the tax. He objected to postponement of consideration o fthe tax until the next session of Congress, on the ground that it would relieve the California producers of the tax for a year, amounting to a bonus of some $7,000,000.

The first night session of the conference was held tonight.

CROP-MOVING FUNDS.

Delegation from Farmers' Union Called on President Wilson.

Washington, Sept. 18.—Secretary McAdoo and Senator Smith, of South Carolina, with a committee from the Farmers' Education and Co-operative Union of America, today discussed with President Wilson possible changes in the regulations for the distribution of the $50,000,000 fund for the movement of crops.

The committee consisted of E. W. Dabbs, of Mayesville, S. C., chairman; Robert M. Cooper, of Wysacky, S. C.; S. H. Hobbs, of Clinton, N. C.; J. C. Kennett, of Greensboro, N. C., and James H. Patten, of Washington, D. C.

The committee was appointed at a recent convention of the National organization at Saline, Kas.

A resolution adopted at the convention, presented to President Wilson, asserted that the organization was convinced that "neither in amount nor in conditions laid down by the Secretary of the Treasury nor in the regulations proposed by receiving banks would much good come to the farmers," unless certain changes were made in the fund-distribution plan.

The committee advocated that the fund itself be increased materially and that withdrawals should be made every two months instead of monthly.

Dr. Dabbs said afterward that the conference was "satisfactory" and that President Wilson and Secretary McAdoo had promised to do everything possible toward the relief of the tension in moving crops.

Secretary McAdoo explained, according to Mr. Dabbs, that the extension of the withdrawal period would be dependent on commercial circumstances and that the department would extend it in case of necessity.

—Seagirt, N. J., Sept. 18.—With an aggregate score of 194 out of a possible 200, Corporal F. Lueders, United States Cavalry, this afternoon won the Seagirt championship match, leading a field of more than 100 marksmen. Sergeant Cedric B. Long, of Mascachusetts, was second with 193. Lieutenant Waller, Marine Corps, and Captain Clopton, Kansas, each made 192, but Waller wins third place by vjirtue of his superior shooting on the 1,200-yard range.

DETAILED PROPOSAL OF ROADS

Railroads' Latest Rate Offer to be Submitted to Governor Today. Chairman Travis Urges Acceptance.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 18.—The proposal in detail by the inter-State carriers for the settlement of freight rate contest in North Carolina will be presented to Governor Craig tomorrow through Chairman Travis, of the Corporation Commission, and consists of nine typewritten pages, including rates from the West to the various North Carolina zones; rates from the Eastern seaboard territory, and miscellaneous routes; the proposal being signed by freight traffic managers for the Atlantic Coast Line, Seaboard Air Line, Norfolk & Western, and Southern Railway companies.

Buffalo-Pittsburg Rates.

It is a notable fact that the reductions of rates into North Carolina from the Buffalo-Pittsburg zone incorporated into the latest amended proposal, are equal to those from the West heretofore published, ranging from 12 cents from Buffalo on first-class, to 10 cents from Pittsburg on same class. Reductions worked out on Eastern rates are somewhat less than Buffalo-Pittsburg and traffic agreements for reductions are yet to be put through with connections for Eastern rates.

Hay, Grain, Machinery, Etc.

Greatest reductions from the West are on grain, hay and grain products; from Buffalo on manufactured products; Pittsburg on steel and iron products; Philadelphia on manufacturing machinery, especially for cotton mills, and general merchandise; Baltimore, general merchandise, including canned goods; New York on general merchandise.

Travis Urges Acceptance.

Chairman Travis will follow the presentation of this detailed statement with a special communication to the Governor and the General Assembly, urging that the proposal be accepted and setting out the reasons for this recommendation by the Commission.

Rate Experts Summoned.

There came in today a number of special rate experts active in the State Just Freight Rate Association, who were called into conference with the Governor and the Legislative Commission. These are President Fred N. Tate, of the Just Freight Rate Association; J. L. Graham, Winston-Salem; J. C. Forester, Greensboro, and W. S. Creighton, Charlotte.

All these gentlemen were summoned here by Governor Craig for a confidential conference, so that none of them will discuss the proposition pending the decision of the Governor as to whether or not he will recommend to the Legislature the acceptance of the proposal.

HOUSE HAS PASSED NEW CURRENCY BILL

Vote Was Overwhelming and Measure Now Goes Over to the Senate.

IT CHANGES MONEY METHOD

Twelve Federal Banks Will Issue Currency on Good Commercial Paper—Gold Standard Is Re-affirmed.

Washington, Sept. 18.—Complete revision of American banking and currency methods proposed in the Democratic Currency bill was started on its way to the statute books today. By a vote of 286 to 84 the House passed the bill in practically the same form in which it was originally proposed. Twenty-four Republicans and 14 Progressives joined with the Democrats in voting for the bill.

With this overwhelming House majority and the endorsement of President Wilson behind it, the measure was sent over to the Senate. There it was referred to the Banking and Currency Committee, before which hearings on the subject already are in progress. The committee may not be ready to report for several weeks.

The measure would eliminate the present American bank note system under which banks issue currency against government bonds and establish a currency to be issued by twelve Federal reserve banks based on sound commercial paper which the government assumes the responsibility of redeeming in gold or lawful money.

It would place practically every phase of banking under the control of a Federal reserve board of seven members, to be appointed by the President, and a counsel of bankers which would have only advisory powers. The system would be administered through the revenue banks situated in twelve geographical divisions of the country, each capitalized at about $5,000,000, which capital must be subscribed by the banks in the reserve district. At the eleventh hour the House wrote into the bill a disclaimer of any intention to alter the gold money standard fixed by law.

Ten days of earnest consideration in the House failed to alter the bill in any material particular and it passed virtually as drawn by Representative Glass, of Virginia, chairman of the House Banking and Currency Committee, after conferences with Senator Owen, chairman of the Senate Committee; Secretary McAdoo, of the Treasury Department, and the President.

Sentiment regarding the measure has not yet crystalized in the Senate. The Senate Committee is hearing interested citizens from all over the country on the principles of the bill. These hearings may continue for several days at least. The committee itself is expected to take weeks in the discussion of the measure, although the administration forces in the Senate hope to force an early report to the floor where further extended debate is expected. Three Democrats voted against the bill today. A final fight on an amendment re-affirming the present financial policy of a gold money standard caused some defections from the Democratic side.

The three Democrats who voted against the bill were Representatives Calloway, of Texas; Elder, of Louisiana, and Witherspoon, of Mississippi.

The Republicans voting for it were Representatives Baltz, Browne, Cary, Cooper, Cramton, Dillon, Ech, Farr, Foss, Frear, Haugen, Helgensen, Kent, Lenroot, Mapes, Lindquist, McLaughlin, Nelson, Porter, Samuel Smith and J. M. C. Smith, of Michigan; Smith, of Minnesota; Stafford, Young, of North Dakota.

The Progressive vote split, two Progressives, Representatives Temple and Walters, of Pennsylvania, voting against the bill. Fourteen others voted for it. They were Representatives Bell, of California; Hinebaugh, Woodruff, Michigan; Kelly, of Pennsylvania; Lafferty, Lindebergh, MacDonald, Manahan, Murdock, Nolan, Norton, Rupley, Thomson, of Illinois, and Stephens, of California.

Experts Testify.

Washington, Sept. 18.—A number of invited experts were still to be heard when the Senate committee finished today's hearings and it is expected the public discussion of the measure will continue until early next week. The bill then will be taken up for discussion within the committee room. Charman Owen will make no prediction today as to the prospect for action in the Senate committee.

Emphatic expressions have come from Democratic members of the committee as to changes they believe to be necessary in certain features of the bill. William H. Berry, collector of customs at Philadelphia, said he believed the bill proposed a system worse than that now in operation. In response to questions by Senator Reid he said its only valuable point was that it reduced the amount of reserves which National banks were required to keep.

SUES MOVIE FILM "TRUST."

Film Company Asks $300,000 Damages Under Missouri Anti-Trust Law.

St. Louis, Sept. 18.—A damage suit for $300,000 was filed in the Circuit Court here today against the Film Exchange Corporation of Virginia, the Mutual Film Corporation of Delaware, the Mutual Film Corporation of Missouri and Frederick A. Keller, St. Louis agent for the companies.

The suit was brought by the Swanson-Crawford Film Company, under the State anti-trust law, which prohibits combinations in restraint of trade, and authorizes the recovery of three-fold damages.

JOHNNY EVERS' CUB MACHINE DIVIDE HONORS WITH BRAVES

DODGERS DROPPED TO REDS

Ragon Had One Bad Inning Which Enabled Reds to Put Across Sufficient Tallies to Win The Game.

Johnny Evers and his Chicago Cubs went up one side of the hill and down the other in their fight for third position in the National League, by winning the opening stanza of a doubleheader and dropping the latter to the Boston Braves. By the operation they figured a net loss of one point. Tommy Leach, who is a strong bid for managerial honors on some major league club next season, won the first game for the Cubs by his sensational hitting, base running and ability to wait at the plate.

The Brooklyn Dodgers dropped to the Cincinnati Reds by a three to two score, Ragon having one bad inning which enabled the Reds to put across three tallies. The first game of the scheduled double-header was called off on account of rain.

Cubs and Browns Split.

Chicago, Sept. 18.—Chicago shutout Boston 3 to 0 in the first game here today and the score was reversed in the second. Leach's hitting, base running and ability to wait at the plate was responsible for the locals winning the first game. The visitors won the second by daring base running and opportune hitting, coupled with Chicago's errors.

BASEBALL SATURDAY.

Company B and Giants Will Play Last Game of Season.

The lovers of baseball will be given another opportunity to witness another good game before the season closes finally when Company B, of the Boys' Brigade, twice city champions, will meet the Giants in the fourth game of the post-season series to put an end to the controversy concerning the real strength of these two teams.

They have played three games of this series and Company B has won two and the Giants one. Both teams have been greatly strengthened for this game as both realize that to win they must be in the pink of condition. It will be interesting to the fans of the city to learn that the "old hoss" Bert Kite, will be seen in the game with Company B. He will go in especially to catch Register, who has made a very enviable reputation here this season and he is looked upon as a coming player of great ability whose baseball future is limited only by his opportunity to go up against fast company.

The Giants will have Bob Carr behind the bat with "Pomp" Green in the box and with these two batteries this should be a great game, especially if the other players on both teams play behind their moundsmen as they have been doing all season.

The full line-up will be: Company B, Kite, c; Register, p; Huhn, 1b; Register, H., 2b; Shephard, 3b; Palmgren, ss; Andrews, lf; Taylor, cf; Branch and Litgen, rf. Giants, Carr, c; Green, p; Davis, 1b; Boswell, 2b; Shephard, C, 3b; Sellers, ss; McCartney lf; Bethea, cf; Moore, rf.

The game will begin at 3:30 sharp and a great crowd is expected to be present. Should Company B win this game it will end the series but should the Giants put it on them there will be another game to settle this interesting dispute.

Snodgrass' Chance Redeem His Error

Fred Snodgrass, the Giants' centerfielder, will no doubt be on the regular team that plays against the Athletics in the coming world's series next month.

Possibly no player was more unpopular or reviled than was Snodgrass after the last world's series. He had lost the Giants the championship by making one of the most costly errors ever known in the history of the National game. The muff he made of an easy fly cost not only himself and his fellow players more than $1,500 each, or the difference between the winners' and losers' end, but also caused the changing of hands of an amount of money wagered on the result of the series the country over that may have been up in the millions.

McGraw Has Faith in Him.

But while time has smoothed over the heaps of abuse showered on the head of the unlucky player, Manager McGraw even from the very time of the accident never lost faith in the Californian and in the height of all the roasting and knocking against Snodgrass came out publicly on the vaudeville stage and said he did not blame him in the least, and that he would be a member of the Giants again this year.

McGraw has frequently announced that Snodgrass is the gamest player on the Giants' team and when it is taken into consideration that on the very next play after he had made the historical muff that Snodgrass made about as grand a catch as the entire series produced. McGraw's opinion is probably correct.

Anyhow, Snodgrass will be given the chance this Fall to redeem himself, and while he has as yet failed to make good in any post-season series he has been a Giant, still I think he will go to the front this year and come to his own, as old "Red" Murray after his batting slump in 1911.

THE ETERNAL DOPE.

(By Grantland Rice.)

Still all such things even up. Stovall's gain is someone else's loss. Now they've got to go and draft some poor boob of an unlucky bush leaguer to take his place.

When the Giants are in doubt they stop off in Pittsburgh. In 1911, 1912 and 1913 they managed to hit this thriving center just at the time when they needed some consolation. And each year they hurried beyond all trouble over the Corsairs' bending backs.

Experts advise us that McGraw will depend in the main upon Mathewson, Marquard and Tesreau in the next world series. Yes, there's no place for a pitcher like Demaree who has only been able to win sixteen out of his last seventeen games. How can you expect a manager to take a chance on a boob like this in a tight battle? If Al had won seventeen straight probably the esteemed experts would have crowded him as fourth substitute utility pitcher, good enough for about three rounds.

No one has yet seen Connie Mack, mainly because Connie happens to be one o fhis own club owners. In this canning specialty the younger league is beginning to make C. Webb look like a piker.

At the other hand look at the inhuman cruelty shown by the Cardinals' owner. Huggins has been signed for another year, thus showing how the world always picks on the smaller bloke.

If you dope him from the averages you'll find that Jack Barry hits .260. If you dope him from the field in a world's series you'll find he bats .362. He's one of the few who bats better on the ball field than he does on copy paper.

We note where England, America and France are to be represented at Brookline this week in the American Open. Among other entries we lamp the monickers to Jamie MacDonald and Sandy MackPhearson. Wonder what nation these two represent?

JOSHUA B. HILL DEAD.

Had Served As U. S. Marshal in This District Under Five Presidents.

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 18.—Joshua B. Hill, a Confederate veteran and a leading business man of Raleigh, died suddenly from heart failure at his home here about 10 o'clock tonight, aged 72. For 15 years he was United States marshal of the Eastern District of North Carolina, serving under the administrations of five Presidents—Hayes, Garfield, Arthur, Cleveland and Harrison.

Washington, Sept. 18.—Representative Hinebaugh, of Illinois, chairman of the Progressive Congressional Committee, today brought to a conference of Progressive members of the House a message from Col. Roosevelt endorsing the plans of the House Progressives for the next Congressional campaign and renewing his declaration that no amalgamation of the Progressive party with the Republicans would be considered.

Bob Bescher Failing.

Going through the scores for the last 50 games of the Reds it becomes apparent that Bob Bescher hasn't been as dangerous on the paths as he was the past two seasons. In those 50 games, he made only 23 attempts at steals, getting away with 13 and being caught 10 times—a thieving percentage of .565. Last season he made good in about .860 per cent of his endeavors. Bob has also hit into 12 forceouts and seven double plays in the same 50 games. The big fellow must have lost a little of his speed—not enough to be noticeable to the casual observer, but just enough to turn the scales against him on a close play.

Heap Rich Indian Won't Play Ball

Philadelphia, Sept. 18.—There is one Indian who can play ball, but doesn't care to, even with the added lure of a chance to cut into the world's series money. He is Barry Bokis, a Chippewa—same nation as "Chief" Bender, but of a tiny band north of Lake Superior.

Word came down that he was pitching startling ball and an invitation to come out of the woods was extended by the Athletics. Bokis sent back word that he'd like to, but couldn't afford to, even for a chunk of the world's series coin and a big salary.

Derisive laughter from the palefaces. Young Mr. Bokis then sent the magnates the annual financial statement of the Canadian Indian Bureau, and their eyes popped out.

The Bokis band, of which the pitcher's pa was chief for many years, numbers only 90 people, but receives over $800,000 every year for timber, and every man, woman and child of the tribe could sign a check—or make an X on one—for $50,000! It is up to young Mr. Bokis to act as a general manager of the fund, and he can't very play professional ball.

LEVERENZ LEADS BROWNS TO VICTORY OVER ATHLETICS

Held Mack's Heavy Hitters to Four Scattered Bingles

RED SOX ROUTED CLEVELAND

Bob Groom Twirled Senators to Decisive Victory Over Tigers—Yanks Took Second Straight From White Sox.

Walter Leverenz held the Philadelphia Athletics to four scattered hits yesterday, while Shawkey was hit for seven safeties, most of them in bunches, the St. Louis Browns under their new management, won by a five to nothing score. Graff, a St. Louis recruit, played third, and gave a good account of himself.

Four glaring errors by the Cleveland Naps aided the Boston Red Sox in their victory by a five to four count, the Naps outhitting the Champs. Four Cleveland twirlers were used and two Boston pitchers.

Bob Groom was very effective in yesterday's game, and the Senators emerged from their batting slump to put across a six to one victory over the Detroit Tigers. Two recruit pitchers held the Senators to eight hits, while Groom was responsible for seven. By yesterday's victory, while the Naps were losing to Boston, the Nationals again came within one and a half games of the Clevelanders for possession of second place.

The New York Yankees took their second straight from the Chicago White Sox, retaining their narrow lead for possession of seventh place. Ed Walsh pitched the last four innings for Chicago and showed up well.

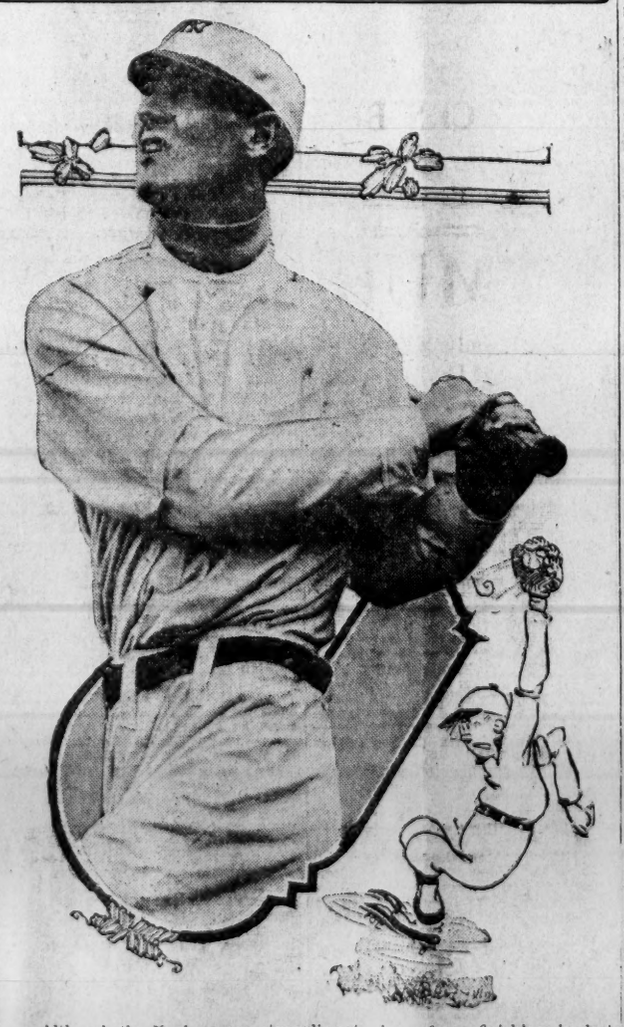
Jack Knight Now Playing Second.



Although the Yankees are struggling to keep from finishing in last place, that is no reason why credit should not be given to a young player who is certainly doing his part. That is Jack Knight, a practically new man on the Yankee staff, who is proving himself to be an infield wizard. Not only is he holding down second bag, which position he is now covering, but his work with the timber has been perfect and has always proved himself there when necessary.

Johnson After Winning Mark

Walter Johnson did not do "a Marquard". Instead of going to pieces when his long winning streak of 14 games was broken, he took another reef in his sails and plodded on, adding still more victories to his column.

Boston was the first team to break through his guard. In a long 11-inning game, in which Johnson only allowed two hits, the Red Sox managed to slip one over in the 11th, The next week Johnson dropped another hard luck contest. This time the Athletics got by in the 10th inning. Johnson allowed nine hits in this game, while the Athletic twirlers allowed 13. Since that game Johnson has won four straights, downing the Yankees, 1-0, and handing Cleveland the frozen mitt twice in the same series and getting away again Tuesday, defeating Chicago by the score of 2 to 1, allowing six hits. But sweetest of all were the two Cleveland games in the same series.

This makes Johnson's record up to date 18 out of the last 20, and for those two he lost he has the consolation of knowing that he outpitched the opposing boxman.

COBB VS. JACKSON

Joe Jackson was the only member of the Big Three to profit by yesterday's games. "Sockless Joe" getting two hits out of five trials, adding a single point to his standing. Cobb was hitless in four attempts, dropping four points, while Tris Speaker on a four and one record lost one point.

A. & M. FOOTBALL DOINGS.

Squad is Practicing and Preparing for First Game in Two Weeks.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

West Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 18.—After two weeks of practice the A. & M. football team is rounding into good condition, and from now on the practice will be stiffer, and of more interesting nature. With the cool spells of the past week, the men have been feeling better and working harder, and are now in good condition to begin scrimmage work, and then the real stars will come to the front.

The first signs of scrimmage work was held Wednesday afternoon when Coach Green picked out two teams and lined them up in order to give the men some instructions regarding interference, etc.

The prospects of a winning team are becoming brighter every day. McHenry arrived Wednesday and will greatly strengthen the team. He was one of the best and hardest workers of last year's 'Varsity, having played at tackle most of the year, but will most likely be used in the backfield this year. He is lighter than he was last year, but is in good condition and faster than ever, and will be very valuable as a full back for the Red andWhite this Fall.

The line will be especially strong this year. It will be a little lighter than last year's line, but much faster. There is a quantity of good material for ends. Jeff Phillips, of last year's 'Varsity gives promise of being better than ever, and O. S. Anthony who was a second string man last year has shown great improvement, and is one of the hardest workers on the squad, and gives promise of pushing somebody for an end position. Van Broklin, who played end on Georgetown last year, came out for the first time Wednesday, and appears to be very fast and heady. Besides these there are Young and Ray, who played on Bingham-Asheville team last year, and are very fast, and also Nichols and Seifert, of last year's scrubs.

Young, a new man, came out Wednesday and appears to be very fast, and weighs somewhere around 180 pounds, and should make a good backfield man for the Techs. The most prominent men in the line are Plyler, center; Anthony, G. H., and Morton, guards; Hurtt and Cooke, tackles, all of last year's 'Varsity, and with Beauregard, of last year's Western High School team, and Winston, of last year's squad, as guards, Porter and Brickhouse centers, and Proffitt tackle, the Techs should have one of the strongest and fastest lines in the South. The most prominent men in the backfield at present are McHenry, Riddick, Rice, Osborne, Artz, Champion, Royster, Bonner, Young, Corbitt and Valley. Rice is showing up exceptionally well at quarter and handles forward passes well.

Only two more weeks now remain before the first game, and the prospects are very bright for a strong and fast team.

NEW ASHEVILLE MANAGER.

Louis Cook to Succeed Tommy Stouch With Mountaineers.

Asheville, N. C., Sept. 18.—Louis Cook, of Quincey, Ill., who managed the Guelph team of the Canadian Guard during the past season, today was selected as manager of the Asheville team of the North Carolina League, and will report here for duty several weeks prior to the beginning of the next season. Cook succeeds Thomas Stouch, of Greenville, S. C., who was at the helm of the local club during the season which has just closed.

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 18.—Police tonight are searching for an unidentified negro boy who attacked Mrs. Bessie O'Connor, 60, a deaf mute, in her home here this afternoon. Mrs. O'Connor was choked and severely beaten. She is reported in a critical condition. Robbery is believed by the police to have been the motive of the attack.

VETS SPRINT FOR RECORD

Colonel J. L. Smith, Aged 69, Retained G. A. R. Speed Record by Winning Sprint and Long Distance Run.

Chattanooga, Tenn., Sept. 18.—Col. J. L. Smith, aged 69, of Detroit, Mich., this afternoon retained the Grand Army of the Republic speed record by winning a sprint and a long distance race from seven challengers. The Michigan champion took the 140 yard dash in 17 seconds.

In the gruelling two and a half mile contest Col. Smith crossed the tape 300 yards ahead of H. G. Barnes, aged 68, of Pittsburg. The elapsed time was 16 minutes, 10 seconds.

Meredith Wolfe, aged 80, of Chattanooga, a Confederate veteran, broke through the barrier on a false start just preceding the first race. He was speeding swiftly around the track when called back by his Union comrades. He felt unable to start again and was scratched from the entry list.

Costumes of the participants attracted much notice. Col. Smith was arrayed in a salmon colored suit over which he wore a pair of dark blue gymnastic pants. Col. H. G. Barnes who finished second in the miniature marathon, appeared in a full suit of sky blue material. Pink socks adorned his feet and dark blue trunks completed the outfit.

Col. G. W. Howe, aged 70, of Port Huron, Mich., took third honors in both races. Towering six feet, is very slender and with a flowing beard Col. Howe sped around the track in a suit of tan underwear, blue running pants and yellow socks.

In the 140 yard dash, W. C. Allen, aged 65, of Clinton, Ky., led for half a lap, Col. Smith followed closely behind with Col. Howe third, W. A. Heinchon, aged 67, of Cleveland, fourth; Col. Barnes, fifth, and Jacob Hoffer, aged 68, of St. Cloud, Fla., sixth. Just after the turn Col. Smith sprinted ahead of his comrade from Kentucky and the race was finished in that order.

Few thought that any of the contestants would complete the two and a half mile race. Col. Barnes set the pace for the greater part of this race. in the fourth lap he was passed by Col. Smith, who gained a lap and then followed directly in the steps of the Pennsylvanian until the 28th lap, when he again passed Col. Barnes. Thirty laps were necessary to complete the distance. Col. Howe, of Michigan, covered the entire distance in a slow trot. Other contestants were forced to drop out of the race, in the early laps.

MICHIGAN STAKE TROT.

Lord Dewey Won Second $10,000 Race of the Season for 2:15 Class.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 18.—Lord Dewey, winner of the Empire State trot last week at Syracuse, captured his second $10,000 race of the season today when he took the Michigan stake for 2:15 trotters at the Grand Circuit races from a field of seven, winning in straight heats.

His victory was expected. So was that of Frank Bogash, Jr., in the 2:12 pace, with its purse of $5,000. The brown gelding again proved himself to be the class of this season's green pacers.

Six events were completed. Only one event, the 2:20 pace, went to the limit of five heats. Homer Baughman, driven by Geers, finally won it. It was Geers' first victory of the present meeting.

The 1:14 pace was a romp for Princes Margaret, the favorite. Dr. B. P. and Jones Gentry, of a field of ten, fought a merry struggle in the 2:06 pace. The third heat was the most thrilling of the day.

For a time it appeared to be anybody's victory. Loretta W., had things all her own way in the three-year-old trot.

In the $10,000 race, Lord Dewey won easily in a mile drive. Six races probably will be run tomorrow.

FORESTRY ASSOCIATION.

Executive Committee Will Hold Regular Meeting in Raleigh Sept. 30.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Chapel Hill, N. C., Sept. 18.—The regular meeting of the executive committee and officers of the North Carolina Forestry Association has been called to meet in the Chamber of Commerce room at Raleigh on Tuesday, Sept. 30th, at 10:30 A. M.

The object of the meeting is to plan the work of the association for the coming Winter season. Several very important matters will be discussed, so that a large and representative gathering is desired.

As the special meeting of the Legislature will then be in session, the subject of forest protective laws will probably be taken up.

In view of the past year's record of over one million dollars' damage to property from forest fires, the question of working for laws to protect the forests from fire has become of pressing importance. The recent collapse of the cattle industry in Brunswick county through an infringement of the quarantine regulations has brought once more to the front the question of State-wide stock law, a measure which has long been advocated by the association as of first importance in perpetuating the Eastern Carolina forests.

Now that the children of the schools are guaranteed six months' instruction, some regular means should be employed to instruct them in the importance and value of the forests to the State. The observance of an annual Arbor Day and the distribution of leaflets to the school children are both measures which are strongly advocated by the association.

Washington, Sept. 18.—Pleas that a widowed mother and dependent wife and child needed the support of Arthur J. Stenzel, convicted of embezzling $5,400 of the funds of the Galveston City National Bank, induced President Wilson today to commute the prisoner's five-year sentence to one year. Stenzel's voluntary surrender and plea of guilty at Galveston, Texas, January 27th, last, were taken into consideration by the President. The prisoner, whose father has died since his confinement, leaving the family dependent upon him, will be released the latter part of November.

THE GOVERNMENT AND MONEY

Secretary Bryan and Senator Burton Differ on Democratic Currency Bill—New plan of Issuing Bank Notes.

Richmond, Va., Sept. 18.—Members of the American Institute of Banking today heard two notable addresses on the currency bill pending in Congress. Senator Theodore E. Burton, of Ohio, this morning condemned the Regional reserve bank plan proposed in the bill, and criticised other features of the measure. Secretary of State William J. Bryan this afternoon delivered before the members of the institute virtually his first public speech on the currency bill, the key-note of his argument being that "banks exist for the accommodation of the public, and not for the control of business."

Secretary Bryan, immediately following the conclusion of his address, left for Charlottesville to fill a lecture engagement.

Senator Burton declared that the provision authorizing the Federal reserve board to control the issuance of currency was "based on an erroneous idea, namely that a government or political organization may properly assume the providing of a supply of paper currency, directly or indirectly. It is proposed that the government shall assume in the first instance the redemption of all circulating notes. This should be left to the banks exclusively. It might be necessary for the Treasury itself to maintain a gold reserve, as is now held for the redemption of greenbacks.

"The proposed plan would cause no derangement in times of fair weather, but in times of panic, or crisis, the obligation of the government to redeem circulating notes would be most burdensome and might seriously impair its credit."

Discussing the plan to put the reserve bank system under the control of a Federal reserve board, composed of the secretaries of the Treasury and Agriculture, the Comptroller of the Currency and four others named by the President, Senator Burton said:

"Such an organization might at first seem an ideal solution, securing a proper balance between the people and the banks in the all-important field of the management of our finances. But it is the bane of our National life that politics enters all adminstrative duties. The competition between opposing parties is so keen that those engaged in enterprises do not feel sure that the authority of a political board will not be used for partisan advantage."

Secretary Bryan argued that "banks exist for the accommodation of the public and not for the control of business," and added that in that sentence was a fundamental truth on which all banking legislation should be founded.

"We have had for two generations," he continued, "legislation on banking systems, but they have been almost universally framed in favor of the bankers. There can be only one purpose in placing money in banks, that is, to get it out again. If you think otherwise, suppose you draw up a paper on this subject.

"The Owens-Glass bill was not drawn with the idea of centralization. There has been too much centralization. There has been too much Wall Street.

"I am in favor of this system of regional banks, for in it I see help for the smaller institutions.

"It has been objected that the government should not issue the money of the country. We hear such objection only in times of peace. In times of war there is no question who should issue the money. It must be the government. Your legislatures enact laws whereby men shall be hanged; and do you tell me that this government has no right to control a bank?"

In conclusion Mr. Bryan congratulated Virgina upon having produced a President (Mr. Wilson) who, for once, is heartily in accord with Congress and who has at heart the revision and reformation of our currency system.

WILSON SELLS HALF MILLION.

Double Sales of Tobacco Amount to Over 500,000 Pounds.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Wilson, N. C., Sept. 18.—Yesterday topped the record on the local tobacco market with over 500,000 pounds of the leaf on the warehouse floors. Double sales were in progress throughout the day but it was impossible to finish the sale. This morning the incoming wagons added to the piles and today promises to hand the buyers and warehousemen another hard day. Prices have not been materially effected, however, and the tobacco farmers are happy.

Mayor Dickensen had his hands full yesterday with a heavy docket. The total fines amounted to $63.85 and several cases were continued and Pharoah Sanders, charged with violation of the prohibition law was bound over to the next term of the Superior Court.

DEER HUNTING IN CRAVEN.

Season for Shooting at Hand—Hunters Bagging Ducks—Sportsmen.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Newbern, N. C., Sept. 18.—The deer hunting season in Craven county opened on September 1st and since that time the woods have been filled with local sportsmen who are in search of these fleet footed animals.

A number have been killed, but judging from all reports deer this season are rather scarce. Summer ducks are also falling prey to the guns of the hunters. Many sportsmen prefer to bag a number of these fowl than to tramp around all days in search of deer and then probably be disappointed. The annual influx of Northern hunters to this section has not begun at the present time, but they are looked for along about the latter part of the present month or the first of October and the hotel and boarding house operators have already begun to make preparations for their entertainment.

COUNTY LOAN AT SIX PERCENT

Beaufort Gets $50,000 to Rebuild Storm-Destroyed Bridges—Harnett Wants Government Aid in Road Building.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Washington, D. C., Sept. 18.—It was learned here today that Herbert Jackson, of Richmond, president of the Virginia Trust Company, has loaned Beauford county $50,000 at 6 per cent., with which to build bridges to replace those which were washed away by the recent storm along the coast. The Wachovia Trust Co., of Winston-Salem, is understood to have bid for the loan and lost out because it asked 7 per cent.

A. B. Oxford, of Edgemont; Col. and Mrs. A. B. Andrews and Miss Mary Gibbs, of Raleigh, are visitors here today.

Representative Small, Joseph Tayloe, of Washington, and G. T. Farnell, of Bayboro, secretary to Representative Faison, returned today after a brief visit to look over their damaged property. They declared that considerable damage has been done, but not quite as severe as they expected.

Harnett Wants Road Funds.

J. R. Baggett and F. H. Taylor, of Lillington, are here seeking an appropriation from the Federal government to help construct good roads in Harnett county.

They advised Representative Godwin that the county commissioners last Monday agreed to appropriate $8,000 to construct four good roads in the county, provided the citizens in the county would raise $6,000, or $1,500 from the citizens along each of the proposed roads.

Upon investigation, Mr. Godwin found that if the county will subscribe $20,000 it is possible to get $10,000 from the government out of the fund of $40,000 allowed to the State. Baggett and Taylor returned tonight to submit the new proposition to the Harnett county commissioners.

STILL SELLING STATE BONDS.

Treasurer Lacy Has Closed Out $600,000 Worth of New Securities.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 18.—State Treasurer B. R. Lacy continues to find purchasers for batches of the million dollar bond issue that could not be marketed as a whole last July. Up to this time about $600,000 of the issue has been sold, this being about half of the total issue. Treasurer Lacy feels sure that he will be able to market the entire issue by early Spring. He is getting par and interest to date of sale.

The Corporation Commission has approved a charge of double the regular live stock freight rate on the big elephant that escaped from the circus at Hillsboro recently. The shipment was from Burlington to Elkin, a keeper being required to travel with the animal, and he also paying full passenger fare. A charter was issued today for the Goldsboro Tobacco Board of Trade, (Inc.), of Goldsboro, having for its special purpose the conservation of the tobacco market of this thriving little city. The corporation is without capital stock, the officers being W. E. Goodsby, president; Sam Millner, vice president, and R. C. Shaw, secretary.

Another charter is for the Dixie Cigar Co., Winston-Salem, capital $25,000 authorized, and $1,500 subscribed by G. D. Carter, Madison; W. E. Landreth, Winston-Salem, and J. D. Bailey, Florida.

Dr. J. Y. Joyner, State superintendent of public instruction, has returned from White Oak, Pender county, where he attended a very creditable celebration of the opening of the public school. He came by Fayetteville where he attended a big colored school rally yesterday. He found interest in education most gratifying all through the sections he traversed.

There have been only 28 deaths at the North Carolina Soldiers' Home since January 1st, the lowest record in a great while, this, too, with the institution constantly crowded to its utmost capacity. Just at this time there is not a snigle veteran in the hospital. This, too, is an exceptional record.

WANT FOUSHEE'S JUDGESHIP.

J. A. Long, S. M. Gattis and W. A. Devin Active Candidates.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 18.—Telegrams are pouring in to Governor Craig for the appointment of one or another of three active candidates for the Superior Court judgeship just resigned by Judge Howard A. Foushee of Durham, on account of continued illness.

They are Jacob A. Long, of Alamance county; Hon. S. M. Gattis, of Orange county, and W. A. Devin, of Granville. The latter is a member of the lower House of the present General Assembly and is being prominently mentioned as Speaker of the House to succeed Hon. George W. Connor, who resigned from the Legislature to accept an appointment as Superior Court judge when the number of judici ladistricts was increased from 16 to 20.

Delegations in the interest of each of these candidates are expected to come for conferences with the Governor within the next day or two, and an appointment of a successor will probably be announced before the convening of the special session of the Legislature.

THE GREAT

MAJESTIC RANGE

Isn't it the truth?

Every housewife spends by far the most of her time in the kitchen, and least of her time in the parlor, yet, it's surprising, how many have a $500.00 piano in the parlor and a cheap, worn-out cook stove in the kitchen.

Now, is your kitchen a pleasant place for you, or does that old, worn-out range or stove give you as much trouble as ever? If so, why not eliminate all this worry, bother and needless expense by putting in a and thus insure perfectly-cooked meals for the folks, plenty of hot water always, no repairs to fuss over, besides having a range that adds to the appearance of your kitchen.

The fellow who isn't getting his in chunks that come easy is always yelling for a square deal.

What has become of the old fashioned gentleman who used to refuse to believe that prohibition doesn't prohibit?

A story or a play "with a moral to it" should first be seen by the old folks before the young folks are steered up against something that is more racy and risque than it is moral.

When a man is the whole show or is getting rich he thinks the whole country is on a big boom. Conversely, he knows the country is going to the demnition bow-wows when he's broke.

What with the Suizer trial in progress at Albany and the Thaw hearing in New Hampshire the legal lights of the country should have no excuse nowadays to turn from the news to the sporting page.

"'Big Tim' Sullivan never took a drink of liquor" says a New York contemporary. There are thousands of men who can say they never took a drink of liquor unless they were by themselves or with somebody else.

An Indian's idea of masters of finance is that they are men who work themselves to death trying to get what each other has. The Red Man might have added that they sometimes combine to get what everybody has.

An Oklahoma paper remarks: "Aint it awful when you have a keg locked up in the depot and the agent three miles away?" Of course, it is, but wouldn't it be more awful for the agent to be locked up in the depot with the keg?

William Travers Jerome declares that poker is not a game of chance. Well, there isn't any chance in it for the suckers who are up against an artist who never neglects a chance to deal himself the best hand around the table.

When politicians of any clique get strong enough to "lay away" each other, it is time to look deep into the motives behind the fight that political factions engage in every now and then. Very frequently it is "dog eat dog."

Says the Washington Post: "The Colorado man who has had his stomach removed may at least console himself that he is no longer worried about the high cost of living." He also has a mighty good excuse to refrain from all invitations to fight.

Having contemplated for several years that we could invent a machine for keeping the streets clean, we notice that some German has gone and invented the device. Owing to the fact that he has butted in we desist, but we hope the thing won't be a failure.

Dr. Harvey W. Wiley before the International Congress on Refrigeration in Chicago said that the "cured" ham is ready for distribution within three weeks of slaughter and the "four-year-old" whiskey is made in 40 seconds. North Carolinians are not expected to qualify as to the latter.

The fact that a woman scientist discovered radium is high proof of woman's capability as a discoverer. We refrain from expressions of astonishment at woman's discoveries, because she has a knack of seeing things through her keen perception and also through a keyhole.

A St. Louis paper notes that "Miss Marie Bakewell, a society girl, has secured a position in a department store to prove that a society girl can be of benefit to the world." Even so. If there is anything in a name, it would appear that she would have been more useful in a culinary particular.

Discussing the progress of surgery, Dr. Alexis Carroll says: "Man can go under the knife now with a reasonable certainty that he will survive." That is true as to skilled surgery, but even if man can be operated on and get over it, the knife is often resorted to on a diagnosis that does not justify the cutting.

RISING TIDE OF PROSPERITY.

A Wilmington man who is not noted for being an optimist, predicted yesterday that business would now go to pieces on account of the Democratic tariff. He insisted that it would near-in-and-about ruin the working man, and naturally we felt gloomy over such a bare possibility but we reminded him that it was not a probability. On the contrary, we quoted the New York Journal of Commerce a few days ago on the glowing prospects for the country's industries and business, and as forbodings and bad prophesies count for nothing against authoritative statements in financial and business circles, it is well to remember what that great commercial paper said. In brief, it was that there is a rush in mercantile and industrial lines, and that the bumper cotton and grain crops were daily bringing on a car shortage on every line of railroad in the country, North, South, East and West.

That is cheering in the face of mere pessimistic opinions and predictions about what tariff revision will do or fail to do. We are now facing a prosperous condition and not a pessimistic theory. We prefer to believe that neither this country's prosperity nor its ruin depends upon a high tariff or a low tariff, but that it is industry and production that makes the United States prosperous in spite of the tariff. Again the Washington Post adds to the cheer by giving this view from the seat of government, headquarters for prosperity, so to speak:

"As the gloomy predictions of certain financiers made last Spring and Summer are swept whirling away with the prosperous breezes of this Autumn, as the growing ease in financial conditions in Europe is duplicated in the money marts of the United States, as the rising prices for stocks and bonds show how investiers have lost all faith in the prophets of disaster and depression, as the constantly increasing values in our exports give proof of our commercial power in the markets of foreign countries, it looks like a complete rout of pessimism and pessimists in the United States. Their theories were based upon conditions in finance which no longer exist, upon commercial limitations which no longer prevail, upon industrial situations which were local, provincial, antiquated, and upon political ideas which have long since been exploded and carry with them neither support nor power."

The Post speaks with warranted buoyancy, and as such a feeling of optimism comes from the American capital, and from a paper which wouldn't go out of its way to boost a country in the hands of Democrats, it is all the more significant that our esteemed Washington contemporary sees good times ahead. The Post does not content itself with a mere optimistic opinion, but in its leading editorial that paper gives powerful reasons why this country is on "A Rising Tide of Prosperity." It states it as a fact, and here is The Post's comment and reasons:

"It is a remarkable, a wonderful, a marvelous transformation that recent years have brought to the business and to the people of the United States. The aggregate earnings of our transportation lines, of our great industrial corporations and establishments, the total amounts of their dividends are this year far beyond those of any other year in our history.

"The resources of our financial institutions grow month by month, and the revenues of the government, drawn from the people, are ample to care for record-breaking expenditures in time of peace, and yet there is no sign of impoverishment of the citizens.

"Commerce, domestic and foreign, is running along attaining to new maximums with each season, and failures in business were never so few in number compared with the number of those in trade, nor were losses through bankruptcy ever before so small when compared with amounts involved in credits.

"Our industrial establishments, our mines, our construction works, our various enterprises that can be classified as industries never had upon their pay rolls so many persons actively at work as they have today, never paid so high average per capita wages as they are now doing, never turned out such total values in outputs, never had more constant demands for all they have to offer for sale.

"If any one doubts the prosperity of the agricultural classes let him examine the market price lists for all the lands produce if any one doubts the demand for labor, let him review the wage scales in any city from Portland, Maine, to San Diego, Cal.

"The immigration lists will show upward of 1,000,000 newcomers to the United States during the last twelve months, but farm laborers, miners, skilled and unskilled laborers in every class of construction work, household servants, are in far greater demand than supply, and this condition paralyzes pessimists. Men of affairs like James J. Hill, Jacob Schiff and others, months ago enunciated their faith in brilliant prospects for business in the United States; and as each day and week and month passes by it brings proof of the soundness of the judgment of these men, and destroys, rightly destroys, the confidence of the business men of the country in the predictions of the false prophets who played the part of oracles of disaster."

Not content with such an array of strong reasons for expecting good times, The Post concludes with the declaration that "the rising tide of prosperity in the United States is sweeping beyond the highest records of business." It is so in Wilmington as well. A working man said yesterday that he could get all the work he could do at good wages and that the trouble with him is that he hardly knows which job he likes the best. He says he knows of no idlers unless they prefer not to work.

DEEP WATER POSSIBILITIES AT THIS PORT.

The fact that the General Assembly meets in extra session at Raleigh next Wednesday, to take action concerning North Carolina's freight rate problem, reminds us to repeat again the statement of Mr. J. Allan Taylor that when Norfolk was first recognized as a rate basing port, the depth of water on the bar and channel there was no greater than that at Wilmington now. It is well for the people of North Carolina to keep that in mind, so they can bolster up their demand that deep water at Wilmington shall be recognized as a basis for freight rates into North Carolina territory, especially that portion of it embracing junction points connected with Wilmington and which by right are entitled to the benefit of water rates.

It should also be remembered throughout the State that it was government aid that has made deep water at Norfolk, Charleston, Savannah and Jacksonville. What the government has done for Virginia, South Carolina, Georgia and Florida it ought to do for Wilmington, which has a greater foreign commerce than all of them except Savannah. While North Carolina is insisting upon justice at the hands of the railroads she ought also to insist upon justice at the hands of a government which now has an established policy of appropriating public funds for greater ports in order to increase American commerce.

Neither should it be overlooked that the possibilities for deep water at Wilmington are as great as they were at any of the ports named, and especially that the commercial justification is even greater than at all South Atlantic ports, save Savannah. Even now the ships engaged in carrying Wilmington's commerce carry just as large, or even larger cargoes, as the ships trading at any of the other South Atlantic ports.

North Carolina wants deep water justice at Wilmington, Southport and Cape Lookout. As to the possibility for a deep water ocean gateway for the Cape Fear, Gen. W. H. Bixby, lately the distinguished chief of the engineer corps, told us twenty years ago that the water on the Cape Fear bar can be deepened to 40 feet whenever the needs of commerce demand it. The needs of commerce and the navy both demand it now. The completion of the Panama canal accentuates the demand, and, moreover, North Carolina needs a deep water ocean gateway here so she can increase her commerce as well as protect herself against discriminating freight rates that handicap her commercial, industrial and agricultural resources.

MAINTENANCE OF MOTOR MACHINES.

The Charlotte Chronicle endorses The Star's suggestion that the opportunity in the South is good for the manufacture of the cheaper class of automobiles. That valued contemporary, however, goes on to add a suggestion with which we heartily agree. It says:

"Our contemporary is no doubt right in the assumption that good money could be made in the manufacture in this section of autos, but we believe that a surer and better proposition would be the manufacture of light tractors for farm use and for contractors, but especially for the former. The greatest development in the South during the next two decades, as great as will be the development in industrial and commercial lines, will be in agricultural pursuits. There is a heavy demand right now for farming machinery and 90 per cent. of the demand is supplied from Northern and Central Western factories. One of the most important and most prosperous enterprises in Charlotte or the State is a concern which manufactures farming implements, and there is room here for manufacturers of other lines of farm machinery, as for instance the farm tractor, feed cutters, manure spreaders, wagons, carts, cultivators, harrows, etc."

Charlotte has several large machine shops and foundries, and doubtless that enterprising city is next to Chattanooga or Knoxville in the manufacture of agricultural implements and machines. Southern-made farm machinery and implements are used in practically every State of the Union, and we understand that Mr. W. J. Oliver, the Tennessee manufacturer, exports many thousands of dollars' worth of his manufactures to South America and other countries. When commerce begins to move through the Panama canal, there is no reason why Tennessee, North Carolina and portions of South Carolina, Georgia and Alabama should not do both an export and import business through the port of Wilmington.

Charleston already has sent port scouts to various States, as far as Ohio and Illinois, but with the great resources of the South Atlantic territory fully developed, there will be use for every one of its ports, just as there is for the handling of the South's cotton directly from Southern ports.

THE NEWS AND OBSERVER'S GAIN.

Announcement is made that Mr. R. W. Haywood, of the staff of the Newbern Journal, has been requisitioned by the Raleigh News and Observer. We can't rejoice at the loss of our esteemed Newbern contemporary, but certainly the valued Raleigh paper is entitled to congratulations. That is so for the reason that Mr. Haywood is a good, all-round newspaper man—one with ripe experience as well as the fine capabilities that he has displayed in all his journalistic connections. He was a Star apprentice, and after some years of useful and creditable newspaper work in Wilmington, he extended his usefulness in other cities, and wherever he has been in harness there has been a man of fine character and excellent qualifications on the job.

Republican rags assert that "the so-called high cost of living is more a matter of sentiment than one of reality." Yes, people "just imagine" living is high because they have to pay out all they make for something to eat and wear. When a Republican disputes the every-day fact that living is high, he stultifies himself in order to defend the Republican party from blame. Why not acknowledge that the cost of living is high, but vehemently deny that the Republican party is to blame for what the law of supply and demand can be kicked and cuffed around for being more responsible than anything else. To argue with a consumer who has to pay the cost of living is absurd. He knows it is high, but he might be persuaded to entertain a few doubts as to where to put the blame.

Mrs. Pankhurst, the English militant suffragette, has cut out her engagement to lecture in Southern cities, with the single exception of Louisville. She proposes to lecture extensively in the North. However, the government is considering the advisability of refusing her admission to the country on the ground that she is an undesirable agitator. Better wait till she proves to be objectionable and then deport her for some actual breach of the Nation's hospitality and tolerance.

Bulgaria fought a good fight and won. Then she started another fight that wasn't so good, and she is now where she began, without getting any of the fruits of the victory over Turkey. She gained prestige in war, lost thousands of men, and now she loses her share in the conquered territory. Her trouble was that she wanted the lion's share.

The red nose is now conspicuous on account of its absence.

CURRENT COMMENT.

"Apropos the discussion of the water supply," says The Wilmington Star, "and the proposition to change from the Cape Fear river to a system of deep wells, Mr. A. N. Dubois, analytical chemist, declares that the river holds in solution very valuable properties which can be extracted at a profit. He says that he has made extensive tests and analyses of the river water and finds it particularly rich in potash and other valuable materials, all of which possess good fertilizing property." And that is the stuff that has been running through the water mains in the city of Wilmington all these years! How could The Star mention it!—Charlotte Observer.

It is to be hoped that the freight fight may be settled before the Legislature meets for several reasons. First, if the railroads do not make the concessions demanded the Legislature will in all probability impose such taxes and other conditions upon them that they will wish they had. Second, the session is to last but 20 days unless Governor Craig orders an extension as a second extra session, and 20 days is hardly sufficient time to thrash out the freight rate problem and the constitutional amendments also. Again, if the freight rate matter were out of the way the Legislature might be able to devote some time to other matters that are pressing and should not wait for the regular session nearly 18 months hence. One of the other matters that cry for attention is a State-wide stock law. In some sections of this State the cattle tick is still a menace and is holding back the livestock industry. The unprogressive counties that have not the stock law, no-fence law as it is generally called, are holding back the whole State in a very important line of industry and a State-wide law should be enacted for the protection of the State at large. Then there are several other matters that would consume very little time that demand attention and if the time can be found, should be attended to, regardless of the fact that the session was called particularly for the purpose of attending to the constitutional amendments and the freight rate matter.—Charlotte Chronicle.

The railroads doing business in North Carolina are reported to have taken another step nearer the line of exact justice for North Carolina in freight rates, but they are not up to the line yet. They are still failing to recognize that what North Carolina is after is full and complete justice, that the present state of affairs is no mere temporary outburst, but that it is a deep seated matter with the people. The latest offer of railroad freight rate compromise is said to make a reduction in freight rates amounting to something like two million dollars a year. It is the belief that there is now being taken from our people over five million dollars yearly by rates which are exorbitant and discriminatory. The offer, then, of the railroads, is that they will go two-fifths of the way to give North Carolina justice, and that we must be content to give up to them yearly some three millions of dollars in excess of freight rates charged in other States. The railroads, having made the proffer of a two million dollar reduction will be wise if they put the proposed rates into effect at once, so that it may be seen how they work. But they can hardly expect that North Carolina will bind itself to seek no further relief, and accept a partial reduction in lieu of a complete adjustment of the freight rate matter. The offer is good as far as it goes, but it does not go far enough. As a final settlement of the matter of freight rate discrimination it would leave the people with many injustices to contend with still, and the people want full justice. To secure that they expect the General Assembly to do all that is possible during the extra session which begins next week. The railroads can settle the entire matter at once with an agreement to do full justice, to go all the way in ending discrimination against North Carolina.—Raleigh News and Observer.

AUTOMOBILE BANDITS.

Party Motoring From Toledo Held Up. Mad Pursuit.

Toledo, O., Sept. 18.—Motoring from Toledo westward, Herman C. G. Luties, of St. Louis, and party of five, were held up at the point of revolvers by three men, in an automobile, six miles east of Bryan, Ohio, early today, and robbed of $2,000 in cash, a gold purse carried by one of the two women, several diamonds and other jewelry.

The brigands drove away with the two cars, leaving the Luties party in the road. They walked to a farm house, were driven to Bryan and aroused Sheriff Samuel Weiland, of Williams county.

Following the tire tracks, Weiland found the two automobiles at a farm house, out of gasoline. As he approached, Weiland was shot in the left arm, and another bullet inflicted a flesh wound in his head. He grappled with one of the men and arrested him. The prisoner gave his name as R. W. Duffy, 26 years old, of Toledo.

Two other suspects were taken later from a passenger train at Wauzon, Ohio.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 18.—A gray touring car, wrecked and unidentified, lying in a ditch 15 miles south of Mount Clemens, Mich. with no traces of the party which drove wildly through Detroit early today exchanging revolver shots with the local police, has halted Detroit and Mount Clemens police officials in their attempt to apprehend the mysterious occupants of the car, at first believed to be the Bryan, Ohio, automobile bandits, who held up and robbed a touring party of $2,000 in currency, besides considerable jewelry. With reports of the hold-up near Bryan freshly received, the Detroit police early today were on the watch for an automobile carrying the robbers, who had supposedly started for Detroit.

When a car manned by three or four persons sped through the city, answering orders to halt with revolver shots, and finally eluding a motor cycle policeman and three high-powered police automobiles, besides a score of patrolmen sent in pursuit, the police believed that the Bryan thieves had escaped them. The car shot away toward Mount Clemens, and the authorities there were notified. The flying automobile never reached Mount Clemens, however, and later today an interurban railway conductor reported the finding of an automobile wrecked in a ditch south of Mount Clemens, which is believed to be the same machine that sped through Detroit.

Up to tonight the automobile has not been identified, and no traces of the party had been found since policemen caught glimpses of it speeding through the Detroit streets.

CONSPIRED TO MAKE ESCAPE

Joe Mason and Bonny Lear Given an Additional Three Months Each on County Roads—Mason Charges Brutality.

For an alleged conspiracy made to escape from the county chain gang the Recorder yesterday sentenced Joe Mason and Bonny Lear, both white men, to serve an additional three months each on the roads. Through their attorney, Wm. J. Bellamy, Esq., they filed notice of appeal to Superior Court. The attempt to escape was made on the night of July 26th, when, according to the testimony of Mr. J. T. Batson, the night guard at the camp, they made an effort to overpower him about 2 o'clock in the morning when everyone was asleep.

Something of a sensation was sprung at the conclusion of the trial, when Mason swore out a warrant before the Recorder against Grady Cook, one of the guards at the camp, whom he charges with assaulting him. It is alleged that following Mason's attempt to escape from the stockade that he was whipped by Cook. The trial is set for Wednesday. In view of the conviction in Wake county this week of two convict guards on a similar charge there is much interest in the outcome of the case brought by Mason.

Mr. Batson said that Mason had spoken of being sick for several days prior to the attempt to escape. He and Bonny Lear were confined in the same cell. Shortly after midnight Mason called for water which Mr. Batson gave him. About an hour later he again called for water and this time when Mr. Batson thrust his hand through the window Mason grabbed his arm with both hands, and Lear crawled through the window, the bars of which had been previously sawed through, with the intention of getting Mr. Batson's gun which was lying nearby. However, Mr. Batson was able to pull away from Mason and get the gun before Lear reached it. He then ordered them back into their cells.

Charges of Brutality.

After the defendants were declared guilty in the conspiracy case their attorney, Mr. Bellamy, stated that he desired to call the attention of the solicitor to statements made to him by Mason that he had been whipped at the convict camp, and was ready to swear to it, if the solicitor wanted a warrant. Mr. Bellamy in his usual vigorous manner then expressed his views regarding the chastisement of prisoners by officers. He was of the opinion that it should be stopped.

Replying to Mr. Bellamy's remarks Solicitor Peschau said that he would investigate the matter. In the course of his remarks he stated that the right of those in control of convicts to correct them by chastising was being much discussed these days. It is unquestionably true, he said, that the authorities have no right from a spirit of malice or other improper motives to strike a prisoner nor are they justified in brutally punishing a prisoner under any circumstances.

It is by no means certain, he continued, that the principles which are embodied in the law giving the right to the parent or those standing in the place of parents and to the master over the servant, to moderately chastise for corrective purposes where it is not brutally done or from a spirit of malice would not apply to the authorities at convict camps. Certainly, he thought, in the interest of discipline which everyone recognizes must be maintained at the camps those in authority should have this right.

The mischief that has resulted from open defiance and mutinous conduct at the camps due to the belief of certain convicts that regardless of what they do, they cannot be corrected except by confinement which relieves them from manual labor which is the object that they desire, is a serious problem, he admitted, and one that must receive most careful consideration. "I will investigate the matter, Mr. Bellamy," he said.

Then, as stated, at the conclusion of the trial Mason swore out a warrant for Cook.

The Cow Ordinance.

The cow ordinance came up for consideration yesterday, Mr. J. H. Strauss being charged by the health officers with keeping his cow within 50 feet of his residence. Mr. Strauss stated when the officers called that it was his lot and his cow, and he was of the opinion that he could do what he pleased with the cow. They notified him that he was wrong in his opinion and that he would have to move the cow. Later Mr. Strauss said he saw in the papers that the ordinance had been repealed. He was taxed with the costs, and warned by the Recorder that the ordinance was still in force and that he would have to move the cow off the premises unless he could find a spot on them that was 50 feet from any residence.

William H. Johnson, colored, who stole a pair of shoes from Mercer & Evans in July, and then made his escape, was arrested early yesterday morning, and brought before the Recorder. The evidence against him was overwhelming, and he got six months on the roads. Lizzie Jones, Georgiana Calder and Isabella Hilton, all colored, were each sent to the county farm for three months for vagrancy.

Dock Bellamy, colored, was not guilty of gambling, and was discharged. Sam Hall, colored, was accused of stealing a barrel of apples from Capt. W. P. Oldham, but the State couldn't make out its case, and he was discharged and another warrant issued charging him with vagrancy. It was continued in order that he could get other witnesses. E. Douglas, colored, charged with assaulting Mary Henry, colored, with a lamp, will be tried Tuesday, the woman not having yet sufficiently recovered from the burns which she received to appear in court.

EXPENSES FIRST QUARTER

Statement Showing Amount Paid Out by the Several Departments of City Government in Three Months.

Statement of amounts expended by the several departments of the city government for the first quarter of the fiscal year, June 1st to September 1st, was issued yesterday by Capt. Thos. D. Meares, city clerk and treasurer, and copies have been furnished members of the Council. The totals are given below. In some of the departments the amount appropriated for the year is shown to have been relatively overdrawn. In some instances no appropriation was made at the beginning of the year for the particular items and these are placed in the overdrawn column in the report.

The totals for each department follows:

General Expense Account—Appropriation for year, $21,640; audited, $6,189.31; unexpended, $15,701.73; overdrawn, $251.04; $20 on auditing, $48.74 for elections and $181.90 repairs to City Hall.

Police—Appropriation for year, $39,015; audited, $10,364.25; unexpended, $28,785.39; overdrawn, $132.64 on call system.

Fire—Appropriation for year, $35,730; audited, $8,432.71; unexpended, $27,297.28.

Street Cleaning and Repairs—Appropriation for year, $37,630; audited, $17,047.55; unexpended, $22,074.18; overdrawn, $1,518.73, $321.98 for bridges, $1,196.75 for wall.

Street Lighting—Appropriation for year, $18,619; audited, $4,181.93; unexpended, $14,437.07.

Health and Hospitals—Appropriation for year, $31,284; audited, $7,910.50; unexpended, $23,463; overdrawn, $89.50 for slops.

Markets—Appropriation for year, $1,750; audited, $751.62; unexpended, $998.38.

Bonds and Coupons—Appropriation for year, $90,000; audited, $34,923.73; unexpended, $56,115; overdrawn, $1,038.73 for interest.

Grand totals are shown as follows: Appropriation for year, $275,668; audited, $89,828.60; unexpended, $188,870.04; overdrawn, $3,030.64. If it costs $89,828.60 to operate the several departments for one quarter then at the same rate it would cost $359,314.40 for the year, or $83,645.60 more than the appropriation provided in the regular budget. Besides some special items are to be added to this.

In addition to the above the following items have been audited by the city clerk and treasurer: Water and sewerage (operating), $13,480.52; sewerage construction, $43,667.02; incinerator, $10,748.81; sidewalks, $30; loans repaid, $35,000; park fund, $100; damages paid, $150; scavenger work, $217.17, a grand total of $193,222.12.

BIDS FOR DREDGING RIVER

Bids for the removal of 1,040,000 cubic yards of material from the channel of the Cape Fear river at and below Wilmington and for dredging 450,000 cubic yards of material from the ocean bar below Wilmington were opened yesterday at noon in the United States Engineer office, this city, Maj. H. W. Stickle in charge. The dredging is a part of the work on the project for deepening the river channel to 30 feet. Four dredges are now at work on the improvements.

The proposals received yesterday together with the recommendations of Maj. Stickle will be forwarded to the War Department at Washington, which will award the contract for the work if any of the bids shall prove to be satisfactory. There were only five concerns which submitted bids.

The bid of The Maryland Dredging Co., of Baltimore, Md., was 12 9-10 cents per cubic yard for the dredging of the river channel, the total amount of its bid being $134,160. For dredging the ocean bar its bid was 18 cents per cubic yard, the total amount being $81,000.

The bid of P. Sanford Ross, Inc., of Jersey City, N. J., was 14 4-10 cents per cubic yard for dredging the river channel, the total amount being $149,760. No bid was submitted for the ocean bar improvement.

The bid of the Coastwise Dredging Co., of Norfolk, Va., was 17 9-10 cents per cubic yard for the ocean bar dredging, the total amount being $80,550. No bid was made for dredging the river channel.

The Southern Dredging Co., of Mobile, Ala., bid 17 9-10 cets per cubic yard for dredging the river channel, the total amount being $186,160. No bid was made on the ocean bar project.

The Home Dredging Co., of Mobile, Ala., 18 1-2 cents per cubic yard for dredging the river channel, the total amount being $192,400. The company did not bid on the ocean bar improvement.

SOME FINE FARMING.

To the Editor of The Star:

I now write you of the farming of Mr. Gus Bullard and three sons, Hampton, Mebane and Tave, the last being a minor and living and working mostly with his father. They have, I would suppose, about 25 acres in cotton and I would estimate their crop to be from 15 to 18 bales. Mr. Bullard says he expects a bale to the acre from four acres of the best. Then they have some 12 or 13 acres, maybe a little more, in corn and I would estimate their corn crop at from 450 to 500 bushels. Tavey, of the Boys' Corn Club, has a little over one acre that is worth seeing. I suppose it will make somewhere near 70 bushels to the acre, and Mr. Hampton has a fraction over an acre, one row of which he said he gathered and shelled and measured the row, being 132 yards long and he got 2 1-2 bushels, which is at the rate of about 72 bushels to the acre. Then they have peas and pea vines for hay and potatoes, etc. And better still, they say they do not fertilize heavily like some, but will have their corn at a cost of less than 25 cents a bushel and rent, fertilizer and labor all counted, so you see Bladen is coming on as well as other places. IMPORTANT MEETING TODAY

Chamber of Commerce Will Consider Some Phase of Health Situation and Other Live Questions.

Members of the Chamber of Commerce last night received postal cards from the secretary of the organization announcing a special meeting for this afternoon at 4 o'clock to consider some phase of the local health situation, the proposed new steamship line from New York to Wilmington, the freight rate situation and to discuss municipal affairs in general. As is indicated by the list of topics for consideration it is one of the most important meetings the Chamber has had in many a day and the attendance will doubtless be the largest in years.

Not only are the members urged to be present but all others who are interested in the questions to be discussed are cordially invited to attend. City officials and a great many others not connected with the Chamber of Commerce will be present.

While the call does not state what phase of the health situation it is proposed to consider, yet it is presumed that it has to do with the report that an effort will be made at the special session of the Legislature to have the consolidated city and county health department dissolved so as to return to the old plan of health work in this city and county. Just what the attitude of the members of the Chamber of Commerce will be on this question remains to be seen.

The City Council, it will be remembered, adopted a strong resolution some weeks ago calling on New Hanover's representatives in the General Assembly to use their efforts to have the consolidated health department dissolved at the special session, which begins next Wednesday.

Senator Marsden Bellamy and Representative Woodus Kellum have been engaged for the past two days in gathering data on the situation, so as to be able to act in an intelligent manner when the Legislature meets. Yesterday morning they visited the health department and secured considerable data from Dr. Chas. T. Nesbitt, the superintendent, and were scheduled to visit the City Hall in the afternoon on a similar mission. It is presumed that among the other information they are seeking is the cost to the city and county of the health work under the consolidation plan as compared with the cost under the old plan.

Several informal conferences have been held between members of the City Council and the legislators. It was reported that a conference was to be held last night to get the views of the Councilmen.

Report had it yesterday that it had been suggested to the representatives that they not only abolish the consolidated health department, but that they get a bill through the Legislature changing the method of electing the members of the County Board of Health so as to get an entirely new board.

The meeting of the Chamber promises to be a live one and as stated the attendance will doubtless break the record for the past few years.

SNEAK THIEF GOT MONEY.

Entered Residence While Occupants Were at Dinner—Stole Purse.

A sneak thief entered the residence of Mrs. Mary Southerland, No. 820 Dock street, while the family were at dinner and stole the purses of Misses Lola and Willie Southerland which were hanging on a hat rack in the front hall Wednesday afternoon between 1 and 2 o'clock. The purse belonging to Miss Lola Southerland contained $20 in bills and some change, she just having come from the bank where she had a check cashed. The other purse contained only a few coins. There were several personal articles in the purses.

The purses were found yesterday afternoon in the Hemenway school yard on Fifth street by the six-year-old daughter of Mr. W. T. Yarborough, the janitor of the school building. The young ladies identified them and they were returned, but there was, of course, no money in them. It is thought that they were thrown there by some negro boys, who, it is believed, slipped into the house and stole them. The police have been at work on the case, and hope to find some clue.

The Misses Southerland had just returned home from down town, and hung their handbags on a stand near the door taking the precaution to cover them up with their hats. When they finished dinner they found that the purses were gone. They immediately reported the matter to the police but as there was absolutely no clue to work on nothing could be done.

BANK OF ROSEBORO.

Mr. Chas. N. Evans Elected President of the Institution.

Mr. Chas. N. Evans, president of the Atlantic Trust & Banking Company, was elected Wednesday as president of the Bank of Roseboro, at Roseboro, to succeed the late Mr. M. J. Heyer, who organized the institution and remained at the head of it until his death about two weeks ago. Mr. Evans was present at the meeting of the board of directors at which he was chosen as president, but he did not decide until yesterday to accept. The Bank of Roseboro is the only financial institution in the thriving little town of Roseboro and is in a splendid condition. The capital stock is $10,000 and the bank has on deposit about $75,000. Mr. C. Dudley DuBose is cashier of the institution.

River Steamer Aground.

The City of Fayetteville, Captain Core, with over 200 bales of cotton, went on the sand above Elizabethtown Saturday and has been fast aground ever since. At first she was broadside on the sand bar but yesterday had managed to get her head down stream but was still unable to get off and the stage of water was reported still lower. Word was that she would have to bide her time until the river gathered enough water to lift her.

Southport and to Sea.

The steamer Wilmington will make another delightful trip to Southport, Fort Caswell and out to sea as far as the Black Fish grounds on Sunday. Those who take the trip are advised that there is no need to take a lunch and they can get a dollar meal for 50c at Miss Kate Stuart's. The fare for the round trip is 50c; the distance 75 miles.

Bristol, Tenn., Sept. 18.—Several hundred Confederate veterans from throughout South West Virginia and East Tennessee, met here today in 18th annual reunion. The visiting veterans were entertained by local camp, S. V. Fulkerson, No. 705. The local chapter, Daughters of the Confederacy, gave a barbecue and awarded crosses of honor.

JEWISH FESTIVALS OF YEAR

Rosh Hashonah, the Jewish New Year October 2nd—Occurs Later This Year Than Last—Other Festivals.

Rosh Hashonah, the Jewish New Year and one of the holiest days in the Jewish ritual, occurs this year on October 2nd, and on this date the Jewish people will enter on their 5,674th year. With this holy day begins a long list of fast and feast days extending through the entire Winter months. Rosh Hashonah occurs this year three weeks later than last, when it came on September 12th.

Last year being a leap year, there were 13 lunar months in the year, thus causing much variance in dates. October is the more nearly normal time for the beginning of the year. The names of the Hebrew months in their order are Tishri, (beginning with Rash Hashonah), Heshvan or Marchesvan, Kislev or Chislev; Tebeth, Shebat, Adar, Nisan, Iyar, Sivan, Tamuz and Ab. In a leap year the extra month is called second Adar.

Nine days after Rash Hashonah, on October 11th, comes Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement, the holiest of all the year, which the Jew dedicates to fasting and prayer. It is a day of mortification of the flesh and the penitance with the reward accompanying of absolution and expiation. The very name, Yom Kippur, signifies Holy Day. It is a fast of the greater antiquity, the oldest fast day that survives anywhere and full and fairly frequent mentions of it are found in the Pentateuch. It is the culmination of the Jewish expiatory ceremonial and the ultimate expression of Israel's religion.

The Feast of Tabernacles occurs this year on October 16th. This is the harvest feast. Its origin is lost in the mazes of antiquity and it was an ancient feast when the five books of Moses were written. It is said that in Biblical days this was the greatest of all the feasts. It is termed the Feast of Booths, because at that period of the year the fruits were gathered and the harvest booths were raised. Originally the celebration of this festival was marked by a bacchanalian character. It retains much of the joyful spirit of the olden times, but many of the ceremonies and rituals of the past have been discarded.

The festival lasts eight days. The eighth day is called Shmini Azereth, and the Feast of Conclusion and has a ceremonial of its own.

The feast of Hanukah, a joyful occasion, begins this year on December 24th and continues eight days. It is in commemoration of the rededication of the Temple and was ordained in 165 B. C., by Judas Maccabacus, the greatest of a great family. The heroic Maccabees are always honored in this festival. It is the occasion for the exchange of gifts among friends and has many pleasant features.

Following Hanukah there is no important festival until Purim, occurring next year on March 12th. The Fast of Esther precedes this by three days. The story of Purim is probably better known to the non-Jewish world than that of any other Jewish holiday, with the exception of the Passover. It is in commemoration of the deliverance of the Jews by Queen Esther from Haman's plot, dramatically related in the Book of Esther. At Purim there is generally a celebration of some sort in Jewish Sunday Schools generally in the form of a Purim play, in which the children assume the characters of the ancient story.

Most interesting, most complex in ritual, and most significant of all the occasions in the Jewish calendar, is Pesach, or Passover, falling next year on April 11th. It commemorates the day on which Jehovah visited upon Pharaoh the 10th and greatest plague, slaying the first-born of the Egyptians and passing over the marked dwellings of Israel. It is the feast of unleavened bread and for a week the Jews eat no other sort of bread. This commemorates the unleavened bread which the fleeing Israelites were obliged to content themselves with because their haste allowed no time for better break-making. There are numerous pleasant ceremonies connected with this festival. It is also the great home-coming time and it is the time when Jewish hospitality flows most freely, many poor Jews in strange places being welcomed to the Pesach board and treated with honor.

Pentecost, the Feast of Weeks, falls next year on May 31st. This is said to have marked the end of the seven weeks of the wheat harvest which began at Passover. This is simply a feast of gladness at the goodness of God.

These are the important holidays. But for the orthodox Jews there are numerous others throughout the year. Besides, every Saturday is a holy day and the violation of the laws of the Sabbath is considered by the orthodox Jew as sinful as the violation of the laws of the holiest fast day.

FIRST CARGO OF COTTON.

British Steamer King Edgar Clears With 11,786 Bales Worth $825,000.

The British steamer King Edgar, 2,433 tons, Capt. Brooks, cleared for Bremen yesterday afternoon and steams this morning with the first cargo of cotton from Alex. Sprunt & Son, cotton exporters, carrying 11,786 bales valued at $825,000.

The first cargo last Fall was taken out on the 23rd of September, the earlier date this year indicating the rapidity with which the staple is coming on the market. Yesterday 3,236 bales were received here, against 1,069 on the same date last year, making a total for the season of 18,550 bales against a total of 10,270 bales up to September 18th, 1912.

FUNERAL OF MRS. RECORD.

Services From Church of Good Shepherd Yesterday Morning.

The funeral of Mrs. Sarah Record, whose death occurred Wednesday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ida Overby, No. 108 Wright street, was held yesterday morning at 11 o'clock from the Church of the Good Shepherd, conducted by the rector, Rev. Thomas P. Noe. The services were attended by many friends. The interment was in Bellevue cemetery. The pall-bearers were Messrs. Thomas Jacobs, G. W. Parker, J. M. Lord, J. H. Noe, Hardy Lanier and Capt. Thomas Lossen.

Horse Seriously Injured.

A horse owned by Mr. C. D. Gilbert, the provision dealer on Market street, between Second and Third, was badly wounded by being struck by a shaft of a dray, belonging to Tom Smith, the colored wood dealer, which was being drawn at a rapid gait down Market street by a runaway horse yesterday afternoon about 6:30 o'clock. Mr. Gilbert's horse is probably so badly hurt that it will never be worth anything. Mr. Gilbert values it at $300. Dr. Carroll, the veterinary surgeon, was called in and dressed the wounds.

ENJOYABLE DAY FOR THAW.

Went Sightseeing and Conferred With Lawyers at Concord.

Concord, N. H., Sept. 18.—"This has been the most enjoyable day I have had in years," said Harry K. Thaw, as he returned from a long automobile ride in the country today. The outing was arranged by Sheriff Drew, who has Thaw in custody pending the outcome of the extradition hearing before Governor Felker next Tuesday.

Accompanied by the sheriff and his assistant, newspaper men and photographers, Thaw was cheered by a crowd as the party left the hotel. The automobile whirled out of the city through the village of Penacook, 12 miles distant, to Boscawan. There the inviting fields stretching alongside the State boulevard atracted Thaw who got down to stretch his legs with Police Officer Stevens as his escort. Thaw for over two miles hit up a pace that forced Stevens to do his best to keep up. When they climbed back into the car Thaw's cheeks had a healthy flush and he was in better condition, apparently as to wind than was his guardian.

Upon the return trip a visit was made to St. Paul's school, where Thaw's cousin, Benjamin Thaw, Jr., was a student seven years ago.

"This has made me feel like going to bed early and getting a good sleep" said Thaw when he got back. But before carrying out that part of the programme he went over with his lawyers the results of their all-day search in the law books of the State library for precedents bearing on the extradition proceedings before Governor Felker next Tuesday.

Mail for Thaw and his counsel and communications to Governor Felker concerning the case continue to pour in in great quantities. A New York man who has been in Concord since Monday circulating a petition asking the Governor to release Thaw was forcibly ejected from Thaw's hotel late today. During the evening remarks made by him were construed as a threat against William Travers Jerome, and the police sent him out of the city.

—Mr. L. M. Jones, of Goldsboro, was among the visitors in the city yesterday.

..Theatrical..

Tomorrow the first musical comedy attraction of the season comes to the Academy of Music and it will be a brilliant initial number, as the attraction will be Henry W. Savage's wonderful and superb "Little Boy Blue", and two performances, matinee and night, will be presented. Seats for both performances are now selling at Plummer's. The attraction is not only a large one, but one of magnificent nature as to scenery and costumes. A carload of scenic effects is carried, and the company's own fine orchestra will augment the Academy's orchestra.

Exactly as it was given during its season's run in New York, the romantic operetta, "Little Boy Blue," Henry W. Savage's widely known and highly successful light operatic production will come to Wilmington.

The long run of "Little Boy Blue" in New York marked it the most praiseworthy of Mr. Savage's musical productions since "The Merry Widow", and it is now placed alongside that sensational Viennese operetta and the perennial "Prince of Pilsen," as the best results of the great producer's career.

"Little Boy Blue" glorifies the romance of old Scotland as well as reflecting mad Parisian gayety. It is in two acts and three scenes. The score is by Henri Bereny and the text by Rudolph Schanzer and Carl Lindau. As is customary with Mr. Savage, he had a palatable American text prepared by A. E. Thomas and Edward Paulton, both prominently successful playwrights.

Gainsborough, the famous artist, a contemporary of the most romantic period of England and Scotland, brought from his brush among other masterpieces, one called "Boy Blue", and it is the romance surrounding this painting that furnished the story of the play. An exact copy of the portrait is exhibited in the second act and the "Little Boy Blue" of the story follows it in dress and general appearance. The appealing story of the little wandering prince of the Scotts has never been more attractively told.

Good as Ever.

Al G. Field has never presented a mediocre entertainment, years ago when he blazed the path for modern minstrelsy, he emphatically declared that he would never attach his name to an entertainment that he would have to apologize for. This promise has been faithfully kept from the initial entree of the famous company bearing his name. He recognizes no opposition nor competitors, for the Al G. Field Greater Minstrels are in a class of their own making, superior to any similar organization striving to elevate modern and progressive minstrelsy. Each year sees the Al G. Field Minstrels outstripping the efforts of the preceding year, with novelties scenic and effects electrical, and a magnificent company to interpret new ideas and laughable burlesques. This year he presents another new show, promising that it will eclipse anything he has offered heretofore.

The Field show pays its annual visit to Wilmington Monday, coming to the Academy of Music. Seats will go on sale at Plummer's tomorrow morning, with no advance in prices.

"Captain Kidd" at the Grand.

"The Treasure of Captain Kidd", Edison's great film story of this noted buccaneer, who terrorized people on the mighty deep and buried his loot, will head today's big show at the cozy, handsome Grand. Who has not heard of Capt. Kidd and of his gold, which so many people have tried to find? Essanay's "Easy Payments" is also a big star of today's bill, and it tells the story of a young woman and a young man, strangers to each other, who go from the country to the city to gain fame and fortune. It is a human-interest film of great and exceptional attractiveness and power. "The Marshal's Capture," telling the story of how a brave officer is compelled to arrest his brother-in-law and what happens, is another swell film at the Grand today. The music for today's show will be all new and of the latest and merriest brand, which adds much to the pleasure of Grand devotees, and the price is small, only 5 cents for afternoon and night.

Today's Bijou Thrills.

The popular Bijou has a bill of most delightful nature for today. It is especially strong for the dramatic and the noval, though it will have plenty to tickle the ribs of the most sedate. Probably what is the most wonderful, the most thrilling of all railroad stories is on today in Kalem's "The Substitute Engineer." Two trains crash towards each other and a wreck is prevented by two hoboes, who observe the danger through a telescope. A great novelty in the film line will be shown in Selig's "The Man in the Street", which deals with the stock exchange, the drawing room and detectives. It is a remarkable story, told in graphic way. "The Beaded Buckskin Bag" is still another powerful dramatic on today a story of early days in California, with an American adventurer and a Mexican mine owner in the leading roles. There will be other swell features, too, at the Bijou today, thus making up one of the biggest and best of all days, and solid comfort, the brightest kind for this dread weather, will, of course, hold forth.

ROBBERS KILL TWO.

Entered Grand Rapids Jewelry Store. Third Man Wounded.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Sept. 18.—Two robbers with drawn revolvers entered the jewelry store of J. J. Thompson here early tonight, commanded the clerks to throw up their hands, and, when they refused, opened fire.

John A. Thompson and Ed Smith fell dead and Paul Townsend was probably fatally wounded. The bandits escaped.

The three victims were alone in the store when the robbers entered. Townsend, who was taken to a local hospital, was able to tell the authorities only a few words concerning the tragedy.

The jewelry store is almost in the heart of the business district and pedestrians passed while the robbers were within.

One person informed the police that he heard three shots fired. Policemen nearby also were attracted by the shooting, but the robbers fled before they arrived. No description of them could be secured tonight.

PRINCESS SUICIDES.

Disappointed in Love Affair, Kills Herself at Heidelberg.

Heidelberg, Germany, Sept. 18.—Princess Sophia, of Saxe-Weimar-Eisenach, a beautiful young woman, unusually popular, of sunny disposition and much courted by the officers with whom she often rode behind the hounds, at the Baden court hunts, committed suicide early this morning. Her body, with a bullet wound in the temple, was found this morning in her room, in the palace of her father, Prince William.

The death of the Princess was due to a love affair. She was engaged to Hans Von Bleichroeder, the eldest son of the senior member of one of the most powerful banking houses in Germany. When the engagement was announced prematurely some months ago, it was learned that the reigning grand duke, Prince William Ernest, strenuously prohibited the union, unless the princess renounced all her titles and dignities. This she refused to do.

Princess Sophia and her parents were much beloved in Heidelberg for the interest they had taken in the poor, and the general public welfare, although the father was by no means wealthy, and was living on an appanage from the reigning grand duke. As head of the family, the grand duke objected to the union of the princess with a man who occupied an inferior station in life. Her father, it is said, was inclined to accede to his daughter's wishes, but was unable to take an independent stand, owing to his financial relations with the grand duke.

Since the Princess had been prevented from marrying Von Bleichroeder, they had often been seen together at Heidelberg. He had studied for several years at Heidelberg and made the Doctor's degree last Winter.

It is not known whether the pair had resigned themselves to the decision of the grand duke.

Von Bleichroeder, it is reported, started from Berlin for Heidelberg yesterday.

No statement of any kind, relative to the tragedy has been given out, and official confirmation of the suicide could not be obtained today at Prince William's palace. But the towns people have accepted the suicide version, and the pathetic feature of the affair has caused deep sorrow.

According to one or the palace employees, the Princess killed herself about 6 o'clock in the morning, and a maid entering her apartments soon afterwards, came upon her dead body. The Princess was 25 years of age.

A brother, Prince Herrman, resigned from the Prussian arm several years ago. He settled in London and married an Italian actress. Compelled to renounce his title, he took the name of Count Ostheim.

THE CRUISER NEWBERN.

That's the Way Newbern People Would Like to See it Written.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Newbern, N. C., Sept. 18.—Learning that the new battleship now being constructed by the government is to be named North Carolina, the Chamber of Commerce and the citizens in general of Newbern are preparing to make an effort to have the ship which now bears this name and which, after the completion and christening of the new one, will be named for one of the towns in the State, named Newbern.

The people of the city have during the past few days become greatly enthused over this matter and are very anxious that their proposed plans will materialize and no stone will be left unturned to bring this about. Influential citizens will, in addition to the Chamber of Commerce, take the matter up with Secretary of the Navy, Josephus Daniels, and other prominent officials and urge them to give whatever assistance possible in having the present battleship North Carolina named for Newbern.

Meeting of Junior Order.

The second meeting of the new Junior Council recently organized by Mr. L. O. Smith was held last night in the Junior Hall on South Front street. On account of the inclement weather there was a small attendance. It was decided to call the new lodge Wilmington Council, No. 424. The old Odd Fellows' Hall on Third streets, was selected as the place of meeting, and the time will be each Tuesday night at 8 o'clock. There were several candidates initiated last night.

Two Large Whales Sighted.

While Mr. Elijah Spencer and his crew were waiting to place their seine for mullets they saw two large whales swimming northward Wednesday afternoon. The two monsters were close in not far beyond the breakers, and the members of the crew are of the opinion that they must have been 35 or 40 feet in length. Occasionally the whales would raise their bodies out of the water for a considerable distance.

COTTON CLOSED BARELY STEADY FREE WHEAT CAUSES SCARE STOCKS DRAGGED TILL CLOSE

Heavy Realizing and New High Records Made for the Season, But Under Renewal of Buying Prices Eased Off.

New York, Sept. 18.—There was heavy realizing in the cotton market today, and after making new high records for the season under a renewal of yesterday's buying movement, prices eased off, closing barely steady, at a net decline of 3 to 9 points.

There was quite an excited demand at the start, owing to higher Liverpool cables, larger English spot sales, continued crop complaints, an dyesterday's late reports of a firmer Southern spot situation. The market opened steady, at an advance of 9 to 15 points, with December contracts selling at 13.40, or $3.65 per bale above the low level of Friday, and 5 points above the best figure previously reached since the publication of the September bureau. A good deal of the demand seems to be on overnight buying orders, which were readily executed at the new high level of price, however, and the market soon turned easier under Liverpool, local and Southern selling. On a break of 12 or 15 points from the best, there was good buying and prices rallied several points, but on each bulge there appeared to be long cotton for sale, and the market weakened again during the afternoon, under general realizing and scattered selling for a reaction. Closing prices were the lowest of the day.

Prospects for clearing weather in the South led to predictions of an increased movement and freer Southern offerings, which may have contributed to the reactionary tendency, while part of the selling may also have been inspired by reports that the labor situation in England was becoming more unsatisfactory.

Private cables attributed the advance in Liverpool ot small offerings, covering and trade buying, but claimed that trade accounts from Manchester were unfavorable, and that the higher prices asked were checking business in yarns. Reports from the domestic goods trade continued to indicate an active and advancing market, although some of the local spot people say that American spinners are showing very little interest at prevailing prices, and are holding off for the effect of better weather and increasing receipts.

Spot cotton, closed steady. Middling uplands, 13.40; middling gulf, 13.65; no sales.

Cotton futures closed barely steady.

NEWBERN ON FREIGHT RATES.

City on State's Other Big Navigable River Wants a Look-in.

Special Star Correspondence.)

Newbern, N. C., Sept. 18.—Newbern merchants an manufacturers are greatly interested in the question of lower freight rates which is being agitated by the North Carolina Just Freight Rate Association.

When the special session of the Legislature convenes there will be a large delegation from this city on hand to voice their protests against discriminations against the city by the railroads. C. L. Ives, a prominent business man and citizen of Newbern, has been appointed as one of the committee who in connection with Governor Craig, the Corporation Commission and the Just Freight Rates Association will put the matter before the Legislature and for the past few weeks he has been busily engaged in securing from local business men information and statistics showing just how badly Newbern has been treated by the railway companies. This information he has compiled in such a manner that it is possible for him to go back several years, if necessary and show just how long this discrimination has been going on. Mr. Ives is thoroughly interested in this matter and believes that it will be only a matter of a short time before present conditions have been considerably changed.

Chicago Grain Pit Hears Reports of Big Canadian Shipments—Prices Dropped—Slight Decline in Corn.

Chicago, Sept. 18.—Wheat owners here, who have been troubled by the outlook for heavy shipments, duty free, to this country from Canada, unloaded today with increasing vigor, moved by news that threshing north of the international boundary was being completed much earlier than in former years. WRECK ON GREAT NORTHERN.

Six Cars Hurled from Track by Burning Bridge—Two Hurt.

Winona, Minn., Sept. 18.—Six cars of the Great Northern's eastbound Oriental Limited, were hurled from the track by a burning bridge on the Burlington Railway, three miles east of East Winona today. Mrs. A. E. Traynor and R. G. Hanawat, both of St. Paul, were hurt, it was said, but only slightly. The cars were later destroyed by fire. The passengers were taken to LaCrosse and put on board another train bound for Chicago.

The train was running 50 miles an hour and was within 500 feet of the trestle when Engineer A. J. Hadley observed the fire. The emergency brakes were applied but it was too late to stop.

The burning trestle was about 40 feet long, and the tender and baggage car tipped over on the north side and the two day coaches, two tourist cars and the dining car fell on the south side.

Three cars remained on the track. A switch engine sent from Winona pulled one of these away and passengers pushed the other two back from the fire which threatened them.

Speculative Sentiment Confused as to Whether Last Week's Rise Had Merely Paused or Reached An End—U. P. Leader.

New York, Sept. 18.—Speculation dragged today, no important movements save in a few stocks being noted until the lats hour of trading. At that time buying became more active and the market rose sharply. Union Pacific shares led the advance.

The recent course of stocks led to confusion of speculative sentiment. The extended rise of last week and the subsequent reaction left the market uncertain as to whether the reaction merely represented a pause in a prolonged rise or the end of the upward movement.

Both theories were tested. Finding operations on either side of the market equally unprofitable, the traders virtually abandoned their efforts, and business all but ceased. When Union Pacific resumed the leadership in the last hour, however, the list made a better response.

New Haven broke 2½ to another low level to 85⅛, although it subsequently rallied. Petroleum stocks again moved violently. Mexican Petroleum dropped 3; California, 4½, and California, pfd., 2 points. Later, they developed a better tone, and Mexican scored a full recovery.

Local banks and trust companies today began to shift loans preliminary to October 1st requirements, which likely are to be unusually large and a gain in the surplus is expected as a result. Money rates were unchanged but a hardening tendency for the longer periods is not improbable before the end of the month. Foreign exchange made some recovery from its recent decline.

The late advance in stocks pulled up the speculative bonds after the market had shown a downward tendency. Total sales (par value), $2,100,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call. The 2s registered sold ½c. lower at 97. Total sales were 416,200, including: American Tobacco, 200; A. C. L., 100; C. and O., 900; Lehigh Valley, 1,300; N. and N. A., 200; N. and W., 700; Reading, 69,600; S. A. L., 100; do. pfd., 600; Southern Railway, 600; T. C., 700; Union Pacific, 71,400; United States Steel, 87,800; V.-C. C., 700.

DRY GOODS MARKET.

New York, Sept. 18.—The final forecast on the jute crop shows a great shortage, which has resulted in a feverish condition in the burlap markets. Cotton goods are firm, with business restricted in some directions by scarcity of goods. Yarns are steady. Japan raw silks are slightly easier.

There is nothing like keeping the season going at Wrightsville. The Star notes that "anglers are having great sport at the Seashore Hotel these days and nights. Monday night 10 large drum were caught." That is calculated to bring the fisherman on the run. To catch the other crowd—the sportsmen—The Star should put in a line or two about how they are shooting the marsh hens on the sounds.—Charlotte Observer.

Will Fight Any Proposal of Reduced Freight Rates That Doesn't Consider Water Points—Strong Stand Taken.

Fayetteville, N. C., Sept. 18.—At a meeting of the Cumberland County Just Freight Rate Association last night in the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce, a strong resolution was adopted against the acceptance of any proposition for reduced freight rates which penalized the water points of North Carolina.

A committee consisting of the president and secretary of the association and of the Chamber of Commerce was appointed to confer with the business men and persuade them to be in Raleigh next Wednesday, when the State organization meets, as does the Legislature.

The association today telegraphed to Governor Locke Craig its protest against the adoption of the latest proposition made by the railroads of the State, through the Corporation Commissioner Travis, which offers no rate reductions to the North Carolina cities having water connections.

The protest includes the resolutions adopted last night at the meeting of the local organization, a copy of which was mailed to President Fred N. Tate, of the State organization; J. A. Taylor of Wilmington, of President Tate's advisory committee, and to every daily paper in the State.

In the resolutions the local branch calls on the State association as a whole to stand together and insist on the rejection of any reduction that does not include the entire State and contends that the discrimination which would result from the adoption of this proposition would prevent the water points from developing the density of traffic which alone would enable the State to secure the benefit of their location and would thus defeat the aim of the North Carolina shippers.

Officers of the rate association and the Chamber of Commerce are organizing a delegation to go to Raleigh next Wednesday to see that Fayetteville is not discriminated against.

The resolution adopted follows:

"We, the undersigned committee, appointed by the president of Cumberland County Branch of North Carolina Just Freight Rate Association composed of the citizens of Cumberland county in mass meeting assembled do hereby protest against the acceptance of any proposition by the State organization favoring a penalization of water points located in North Carolina in the settlement of inter-State freight rates south of the Virginia cities.

"We further instruct our representative, Mr. J. B. Underwood, on the committee appointed by President Tate to assist Governor Craig and others to represent us in Raleigh on Wednesday, September 24th, and object to such a solution of the matter.

"We further request all branches of the North Carolina Just Freight Rate Association to stand together and insist on the rejection of any reduction that does not include the entire State for reasons as follows:

"Such a solution of the problem is contrary to the policy of the State of North Carolina and will work to the advantage of railroad carriers against the towns of said State.

"This is not the only reduction in freight rates we hope to get in the future and must preserve the means whereby to grow volume and density of traffic used to regulate rate basis by water competition.

"The acceptance of any proposition which does not reduce in like manner to all points would have the tendency to discriminate against shipping points not included and seriously affect business volume built on former rate basis.

"Our demand for reduction is based on principle of discrimination and not on water competition, therefore, all towns within the State's borders are affected alike by unequal advantage given the Virginia cities.

"The water points of North Carolina are our hope for the future in building a port of entry by water, therefore any proposition allowing the railroads to crush out present volume of traffic would operate against every town in the future within the borders of North Carolina.

WOMAN'S CONVENTION.

Women's Mission Organization at Convention of Episcopal Church.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

New York, Sept. 18.—Nearly a thousand members of the Women's Auxiliary to the board of missions of the Protestant Episcopal Church, will meet in New York next month for their triennial convention. This meeting will begin October 7th and will end on October 21st, about which time the general convention of the church will adjourn.

The sessions of the convention will be held in the Church of St. Michael, Amsterdam avenue and 99th street. In addition to these sessions there will be public meetings at Carnegie Hall and at the cathedral and various other churches in New York and Brooklyn.

The first service will be on the afternoon of October 7th, at which Bishop Arthur Seldon Lloyd, president of the church board of missions, will conduct a "Quiet Hour." The auxiliary will join with the house of bishops and the house of deputies the next morning in the opening service of the general convention at the cathedral, when the holy communion will be celebrated by the Rt. Rev. Dr Daniel Sylvester Tuttle, bishop of Missouri and senior bishop of the church. The sermon on this occasion will be preached by the Rt. Rev. Dr. William Lawrence, bishop of Massachusetts.

In the afternoon of this day the first business meeting of the auxiliary will be held. Only five representatives of each diocesan branch of the organization will have a voice in these proceedings. The next morning at 10 o'clock the triennial auxiliary service will take place in the cathedral. The holy communion on this occasion will be celebrated by the Rt. Rev. Dr. David Hummel Greer, the bishop of New York. Bishop Greer will be assisted by Bishop Lloyd and the secretaries of the board of missions.

A feature of this service will be triennial united offering. The contributions from the parishes in each diocesan branch will be gathered into one check and these checks will be put on the plate at the offertory. The offering always amounts to many thousands of dollars.

Sessions of the convention will be held in the forenoons so that the members of the auxiliary will have opportunity to attend the sessions of the church convention. The general meetings in Carnegie Hall and in the churches will be addressed by men and women of world-wide fame in mission work. There will be classes in missions every day of the week except Sunday.

offered by Majority Leader Levy, calling for the arrest of James C. Garrison, for alleged contempt, in refusing to answer questions before the judiciary committee, concerning statements attributed to him to the effect that money was used to influence votes for certain members in bringing about the impeachment of Governor Sulzer.

Garrison, who was in the assembly chamber, at the time, was immediately haled before the bar of the House. He refused to repudiate his alleged statement, and was remanded to the custody of the sergeant-at-arms, pending further action.

Although it was after midnight when Garrison was taken into custody, the sergeant-at-arms telephoned the Albany county sheriff, advising him of the situation, and was informed that Garrison would be received if turned over to the county authorities.

Speaker Smith asked the indulgence of the House to permit the drafting of a resolution committing Garrison to the Albany county penitentiary.

Meanwhile, Garrison was detained in the assembly clerk's room.

LABOR TROUBLES IN ENGLAND.

Transport Workers on Eve of General Walk-Out.

London, Sept. 18.—Despite the intervention of the Lord Mayor, which led to the concession by the Tillings Bus Company of the right of the men to wear union badges, a general strike of the traction employes is still imminent on the clear-cut issue of recognition of the union.

Explaining the failure of a conference held at the Mansion House today, Organizer Ben Smith at a mass meeting of the strikers tonight declared: "We are preparing to stop every passenger carrying vehicle in London before we will lose the fight. Tillings will come first, then the General Omnibus Company, then the Tubes, and after that if we are forced to it, the street cars."

Mass meetings of employes of the bus companies have been called for tomorrow night. The Tillings service was badly badly crippled today and will probably be suspended tomorrow.

The freight paralysis at Birmingham is affecting other points in the Midlands. The London Northwestern Railway is not accepting any freight for Birmingham. Negotiations between the strikers and the railway officials at Liverpool are suspended because the latter decline to discuss the refusal of the men to handle goods from Dublin.

In Dublin additional firms closed down today. What little work was done at the docks was under police protection.

The situation is becoming graver in Manchester. If the Carters fulfill their threat to strike, the traffic of the port will come to a complete standstill. The only item to the credit of industrial peace today was an agreement on the basis for a settlement of the London building trades strike.

Dublin, Ireland, Sept. 18.—The strike of the transport workers here is believed by some observers to indicate the birth of an Irish labor party, destined to wipe out many of the traditional lines of cleavage in the political, religious and industrial life of Ireland.

The historic and bitter feud between Nationalist residents and members of the Royal Irish constabulary has added to the ferocity of the street fighting during the riots, but the strike itself was a clear-cut issue between employer and employe over the question of labor unionism.

The master mind of the street car men's side of the controversy, James Larkin, is a picturesque character, who imbibed his union principles while working in the steel mills of the United States. When he began his work of organizing transport labor in Ireland he found practically a virgin field for his efforts.

Larkin is not even an Irishman, having begun his career at the Liverpool docks. He believes in continental and American methods of conducting strikes and had no sympathy with the Nationalist aspirations which are so dear to the hearts of many of his followers.

William M. Murphy, leader of the capitalists in the Dublin fight resisted the strike with uncompromising vigor and the other capitalists of Dublin joined him to a man. He believes in fighting fire with fire and his favorite weapon is a sweeping and merciless lockout of every laborer believed to have the slightest connection with the transport workers' union.

Should home rule for Ireland become an actuality, far-seeing Irish politicians believe the new government will find a fresh alignment of parties organized on the basis of economic differences instead of as hitherto the sharply divided Protestants and Catholics, Nationalists and Orange men.

GOLF OF FINE CALIBRE.

Two of Trio of English Professionals Forge to Front at Brookline.

Brookline, Mass., Sept. 18.—Playing golf of a calibre seldom seen in America, two of the trio of English professionals forged to the front today in the first half of the 19th annual open tournament of the United States Golf Association and at dusk led the field by a margin of two strokes.

Harry Vardon and Wilfrid Reid turned in cards of 147 for the first 36 holes. Edward Ray divided second place with Herbert Strong, of the Inwood Club, of Inwood, N. Y., each having 149. McDonald Smith, of New York, and J. H. Barnes, of Tacoma, were placed in third position with 150. After the leaders came a long line of professionals, broken here and there by the name of a prominent amateur.

Francis Quimet has the honor of showing the way for the amateurs with a card of 151 which played him a tie with Willie Hagan, Alec Ross and George Sargent for fourth place. Louis Tellier, the French porfessional, turned in 152, which gave him fifth place in company with C. D. Thom, of Shinnecock Hills. Fred Herreshoff, the Long Island amateur; Jack McDermott, present open champion, and Jack Hutchison divided the honors of sixth place with 153, while Jerome Travers, the amateur champion, had to be satisfied with a card of 156.

Edward Ray, the giant Englishman stood out as the hero of the day's play. Starting poorly in his morning round, he came back with a rally wonderful afternoon round, in 70, breaking the course record and lifting him from ninth to second place. His two countrymen, Harry Vardon and Reid, while far more consistent than Ray and two strokes better than he on the day's play, lacked the brilliant rally and thrill in their work that caused Ray to be applauded by the gallery as he finished.

Weather conditions were perhaps more favorable to the British invaders than to the entrants from the States. It rained heavily until shortly before the starting hour and the fair ways and greens lost much of their keenness. Vardon and Ray divided the early day gallery between them and spectators were well repaid for their long journey around the course for both played phenomenal golf at times.

There was a marked similarity in the play and cards of Vardon and Reid. They played with almost clocklike steadiness, equalling par or better hole after hole, regardless of the difficult lies. Vardon surpassed Reid in his putting but appeared to have little, if any, advantage with either driver, iron or mashie.

Three cards were pictures of steadiness, containing as they did a predominance of fours with occasional fives relieved by threes.

Constitutioialists Make Arrests.

Eagle Pass, Texas, Sept. 18.—Forewarned, they declare, that plans were being formed for the seizure of Piedras Negras, provisional capital of the revolutionists of Northern Mexico, constitutionalist leaders today caused the arrest of 50 strangers found strolling about the streets of the Mexican town opposite this city. At Eagle Pass United States military authorities confiscated three automobiles, found in a store-room, consigned to Francisco Gonzales, of Durango, Mexico, and Jesus Montemayer, of Sabinas.

The men arrested at Piedras Negras will be tried before a military court, and if found guilty of being Federal spies, on which charge they are held, they probably will be executed.

Constitutionalist troops were stationed at outlying posts about Pedras Negras ready to intercept Federals supposed to be marching on the city and within the city preparations were made to repel an attack.

Bandits at Work.

New York, Sept. 18.—A dozen American refugees who arrived today from Tampico on the steamship Santiago, told of the dangers they escaped in Mexico. Mrs. Lillian Gonzales, a widow and a native of Atlantic City, said she was forced to flee for her life from San Luis Potosi.

"Bands of rebels threatened my house," said Mrs. Gonzales. "I do not want to be a murderess, but I had to fire several times at bandits who came too near. The coast towns are quiet, but stories are coming continually from the interior of outrages committed by the rebel soldiery."

Bird Lagleiz, a former resident of New Orleans, who fled from his plantation about 100 miles south of Tompico, said:

"Just before I left a neighbor told me that the man who owns the next plantation crawled over to his place to bring word that bandits had broken into his house the night before, tied him to a bed post and maltreated his wife before his eyes until she died. After several hours' effort he untied himself and went for aid."

Refugees Lodge Protest.

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 18.—A protest against the State Department's action in issuing a warning that caused American refugees to leave their homes in the Yaqui valley of Southern Sonora, was sent today to Secretary Bryan. The protest purported to represent the views of more than 100 refugees who arrived at Sandiego yesterday on the United States steamship Buffalo. It was requested that the government return the refugees to their homes that they might protect their property, or that the United States government send to the valley at once a force sufficient to protect it from destruction.

Commerce With Mexico.

Washington, Sept. 18.—In spite of the unsettled conditions in Mexico growing out of the revolution, trade of the United States with that country in the fiscal year just closed was greater than ever before. Figures made public by the Department of Commerce today showed imports of merchandise from Mexico in 1913 totalled $77,500,000, an increase of $11,500,000 over the previous year. Exports to Mexico amounted to $54,500,000, an increase of $1,750,000 over 1912.

6Lerdo is Retaken.

Mexico City, Sept. 18.—Lerdo, a few miles north of Torreon, which has been for weeks in the hands of the rebels, has been retaken by the Federals, according to the war department, after fierce hand-to-hand fighting. The rebel loss is estimated at 200 killed. The Federal loss is placed at 16 killed and 15 wounded.

The town of San Pedro De Las Colonias, east of Torreon, has also been re-captured. The official estimate of the rebel loss is 75; Federals 30.

Reinforcements have been sent to Teziutlan in the State of Puebla where an artillery battle is reported on between 1,000 rebels and a smaller force of Federals.

Gen. Campa is reported to have been defeated by the Federals at Samalayuca in the State of Chihuahua and to be in retreat southward pursued by 1,600 Chihuahua volunteers.

Protest Withdrawn.

Douglas, Ariz., Sept. 18.—Constitutionalist leaders here advised today that the Mexicans withdrew their protest made yesterday to officials at Washington and Phoenix regarding the light punishment of an American cowboy, for tearing down a Mexican flag at Pirtleville. The insurgent agents said they did not wish to add to the strained relations between the United States and Mexico. The protest was withdrawn.

BELL TELEPHONE "TRUST".

Attorney General Continues to Receive Complaints from Independents.

Washington, Sept. 18.—Whether to attack the American Telephone & Telegraph Company—the so-called Bell Telephone trust, under the Sherman anti-trust law is being considered by Attorney General McReynolds. More complaints from independent telephone interests that the big company is crushing competition have been received recently by the attorney general who indicated today that he must soon decide whether the Department of Justice await the conclusion of the Inter-State Commerce Commission's inquiry or undertake an investigation with the purpose of bringing a civil suit if the facts warrant.

Washington, Sept. 18.—More than 250 New York financiers have petitioned the War Department to increase the number of troops on Governor's Island to protect Wall Street and the financial district from mob, uprising or foreign invasion. Governor's Island, in New York harbor, a comparatively short distance from the financial district, has only a small detail of soldiers.

KINSTON NEWS NOTES.

Chief of Police Resigns to Attend to His Farm—Negro School Work.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Kinston, N. C., Sept. 18.—After serving two months as Kinston's chief of police, Wiley T. Moseley, a well-to-do and prominently connected farmer, has resigned from office. Moseley was elected chief when Bryant Taylor, the man regularly elected to the office, failed to accept it, and after the council had sought long and earnestly to find a capable man. For over a month there was no chief of the department. Chief Moseley has extensive farming interests near the city, and these, he gave in his reasons for resigning, are demanding his attention. His resignation becomes effective on October 9th, and in the interim his successor will be named.

Rev. A. J. Gaynor Banks, a London divinity student who has been assisting Rev. Jno. H. Griffith, rector of St. Mary's Episcopal church here during the Summer months, left yesterday for Sewanee, Tenn., to re-enter the University of the South. Mr. Banks will locate in this country upon the completion of his studies two years hence. He is very fond of North Carolina and will return here in December to spend the Christmas holidays. In addition to acting as assistant rector of St. Mary's, Mr. Banks engaged in mission work in the outskirts of the city while here.

Mrs. J. H. Sampson, wife of the principal of the local negro schools, is in charge of a new work inaugurated by the officials of the schools. She will engage in community work among the women of her race in Kinston, for which she is especially well fitted by reason of her superior education. For two Winters past the principal's wife has conducted a class in manual tarining comprised of the larger girls of the colored school. Remarkable success was had, and now the efforts in social service will be extended to take in the adult women of the race. Every colored woman in Kinston and every school girl of practicable age will be eligible to enrollment in a class which will be taught for three hours on each Friday afternoon. The aim of the work is to prepare the girls for cooks and housekeepers, to help servants in becoming more efficient, and to teach women who remain in their homes to better conduct them. The departure is new to this section, and nothing similar to it has before been attempted in North Carolina. Scores of negro women have shown an interest in the school, and many have applied for enrollment in the classes. City Superintendent Underwood and the other authorities are lending the movement hearty moral support.

A report comes here from Cincinnati that Joe Tinker, manager of the National League baseball team in that city, is praising George Suggs. Tinker states that Suggs has "come back," and that his coming back means that next season will find him again one of the best pitchers in the big leagues. The Cincinnati public has had confidence in the famous "Kinston citizen," as the Enquirer of that city persists in calling him, all the time, and the newspapers acclaimed Tinker's prophecy with joy.

Just for Convenience

Entirely aside from the many other advantages of a personal Checking Account at the Bank, the convenience of it is no small consideration. The ability to make purchases and pay bills after banking hours without the necessity of always having a pocketful of money is worth a great deal. With a Check Book in your pocket, you are taking no risks of losing money and yet you always have all of your money on hand and ready for use. One is as liable to need money before ten in the morning or after three as between those hours. The Personal Check Book settles the matter.
